State Submits Ordinance On St. Clair Plans

Legislation Seeks City's 'Consent' On Widening Project

The State Highway Department has submitted proposed legislation for the city's consent for the department to proceed with the improvement of St. Clair Ave. The copies were given to city officials for study and action.

In a letter to Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, William P. McKenna, Division 11 engineer at the New Philadelphia office, asked City Council to enact preliminary legislation giving the city's consent and outlining the financial terms to be met by the city for the 1.53-mile improvement from Princeton Ave. to the north city limits.

The proposed legislation also would authorize Safety - Service Director Robert Owen to enter into maintenance and parking agreements and special contractual obligations with the highway department.

The proposed ordinance formally covers most of the items previously determined for the 36-foot roadway in negotiations between the department, city and Federal Bureau of Public Roads, which will pay 50 per cent of the cost.

The copies of the preliminary legislation were turned over to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper for study.

Whether the proposed legislation will be submitted to Council's meeting Aug. 20 for action still remains to be determined, Cooper said, explaining some additional information may be needed before Council can consider the legislation.

The proposed ordinance provides the city will pay 50 per cent of the cost of construction and engineering and "100 per cent of all other items not reimbursable by the Bureau of Public Roads."

It specifies the city will ban all parking in two rush-hour periods with two lanes of inbound traffic and one outbound lane between 6 and 9 a. m., and two outbound lanes and one inbound between 3 and 6 p. m.

At other periods of the day, parallel parking will be permitted only on the west side of St. Clair, the legislation provides.

Under the terms of the proposed ordinance, the city agrees to maintain the improvement and to secure approval of the highways department before erecting any traffic signals on the 1 1/2-mile stretch.

Data on operating the facility and parking regulations was submitted to the highways department late in May when the city was notified the federal agency

May Last Several Days Another Russian Goes Into Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union rocketed a third man into orbit today on a flight that British scientists thought might last several days, dwarfing the 25-hour, 17-orbit journey of cosmonaut Gherman Titov.

Vostok III blasted off at 11:30 a.m. Moscow time (3:30 a.m. EST) carrying Maj. Andrian Grigorievich Nikolayev, 32, a veteran flier who was a stand-in for Titov and the Soviet Union's first cosmonaut, Maj. Yuri Gagarin.

Tass news agency said Nikolayev 3 is one more step in the conquest of the universe, in solving the all-important problem of the effects of the space flight on the human organism, Tass added.

The agency said all the instruments and systems aboard the space ship were functioning accurately and "the systems of regulation and air conditioning keep up the necessary temperature, pressure and humidity."

Data radioed from the speeding Vostok III showed that Nikolayev "endured easily the orbiting of the earth."

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—City officials weighed today a new request for racial talks and Negroes planned small-group tests on segregated facilities in lieu of mass demonstrations.

Prospects of a special City Commission session with integration leaders appeared dim while citizens quietly awaited the next development in the long racial controversy in this southwest Georgia city.

In a telegram to the commission, Dr. W. G. Anderson of the Albany Movement asked for reopening of negotiations at the earliest possible date.

Final Solution Seen Near In Railway War

Plea Due Monday Calling On Court To End Restrainer

CHICAGO (AP) — A drive to bring economy to the nation's ailing railroads—at the expense of thousands of workers who would lose their jobs—is inching toward what one railroad spokesman calls "a final solution."

On Monday, says Howard Neitzert, chief attorney for the railroads, an appeal will be filed with the U.S. Court of Appeals. The court will be asked to vacate a temporary restraining order and allow the nation's rail operators to proceed with a half-billion dollar economy move.

The railroads want to put into effect a drastic revision of work rules that eventually would eliminate 65,000 jobs which the railroads consider unnecessary.

They would begin by immediately eliminating the jobs of 40,000 firemen who presently ride the cabs of freight and yard diesels.

The railroads proposed to put the new work rules into effect next Thursday — a plan that touches a hectic week of legal wrangling that probably will dump the matter at the doorstep of the White House.

The week began with a request by five operating unions, representing 210,000 trainmen affected by the railroad proposals, for a permanent injunction barring the work rules revision.

U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Sam Perry refused the injunction but granted a temporary restraining order Friday against the revision until the unions could appeal his decision.

It is this restraining order that the railroads will seek to have vacated Monday.

No one involved in the complicated negotiations expects the railroads to be able to proceed with their cutbacks even if the appeals court vacates the restraining order.

Warmer weather is returning to the Tri-State District after two days of comfortable coolness.

Debate Gag Sought In Filibuster

Senate Leaders File Limitation Petition In Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders today filed a debate-limitation petition in a move to break a filibuster against the administration's communications satellite bill.

The petition, which must get approval of a two-thirds majority of senators voting, will automatically come to a vote under the Senate's rules one hour after the Senate meets on Tuesday.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana sent the petition to the desk after declaring that opponents of the bill have given no indication that they are prepared to permit debate to come to a close.

Before killing the petition, Mansfield tried and failed to get unanimous consent to limit debate. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., one of the small group of Democrats fighting the House-passed bill, objected.

The Senate's debate-limitation rule has not been successfully invoked since 1927 despite numerous attempts during filibusters against civil rights measures.

Earlier this session, two votes were taken on petitions to shut off debate against the administration's voter literacy test bill and failed to muster even a majority.

The measure then was put aside.

Long said he had an eight-hour speech ready for today's session.

He had spoken Friday as opponents of the measure resumed a filibuster interrupted by 10 days of committee hearings, and called the bill as "crooked as a barrel of worms."

Mansfield said he was submitting the debate-limitation petition on the communications satellite bill on behalf of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois as well as himself. Under the rules, it had to have the signatures of 16 senators.

If it should win the support of two-thirds of the senators voting Tuesday, each senator would be limited thereafter to speaking one hour on the bill and all proposed amendments.

Thus if all senators used the hour allotted to them—an unlikely

City Lighting Improvement Will Be Asked

With nearly 65 per cent of the abutting property holders agreeing, a petition seeking improvement of street lighting in the downtown business area will be submitted to City Council at its first meeting in September, the East Liverpool Merchants Association announced today.

In effect, the petition asks Council to negotiate a new street lighting contract with the Ohio Power Co. with the property owners guaranteeing to pay the difference in cost, estimated at $7,000 a year for 10 years, between the new and present agreements, Ralph A. Finley, ELMA chairman, said.

Under the proposal outlined by the association's downtown improvements committee, four-tube fluorescent lights, similar to those demonstrated about two years ago in a half-block stretch of E. 5th St. would be installed in the business area.

The lights would provide 43,500 lumens each in contrast to 6,000

After Conference President Will Address Nation Monday On Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will tell American taxpayers Monday whether he thinks an immediate tax cut is needed to feed more dollars into the sputtering economy.

The announcement that he will "discuss the nation's economy" on radio and television at 7 p.m. EDT Monday came after a White House conference on Friday between Kennedy and his top economic advisers.

Talk at the high-level meeting centered on the figures for the economy in July—the indicators Kennedy said would help him decide whether the economy needs more fuel to start it climbing again.

Some of the indicators point up, causing a rush of reports that Kennedy has made up his mind not to ask for an immediate cut but to stick to his plans for a reduction effective Jan. 1.

But the bare White House statement went no farther than saying he will discuss the economy.

In any case, Kennedy is expected to reiterate his opinion that personal and corporate income taxes should come down—with the reduction effective not later than Jan. 1—and to press again for congressional action on other measures he has proposed to needle the economy.

His half-hour talk will be carried live by the ABC, CBS and NBC television networks in the Eastern and Central time zones, and replayed on tape at 7 p.m. local daylight time in the Mountain and Pacific time zones. All radio networks, including Mutual, will carry it live at 7 p.m. EDT.

The July figures Kennedy and his advisers are using to chart the economy's current health reportedly show a sluggish advance. The employment statistics, already announced, revealed a slight improvement in the job situation. There were also rises in retail sales and personal income.

But the picture is far short of rosy predictions made at the start of the year.

Another factor the President has to take into consideration is some formidable congressional opposition to a tax cut. A group of AFL-CIO labor union leaders who had lunch with Kennedy Wednesday came away saying he was doubtful Congress would be willing to approve a reduction this year.

Soblen Flight Back To U.S. Put Off Again

Israeli Airline Blames Trouble With Plane Engine

LONDON (AP)—Israel's El Al Airline cancelled today the New York-bound flight which Britain said must take fugitive spy Dr. Robert Soblen back to the United States.

The Israeli national airline, which has failed to meet three British deadlines for getting Soblen back to America, said in Tel Aviv the flight had been cancelled because the Boeing 707 jetliner was "undergoing ultrasonic structural crack inspection" on the manufacturer's orders.

British Home Secretary Henry Brooke was reported giving urgent consideration to the latest impasse in his efforts to expel the 61-year-old psychiatrist, who faces a life prison term for passing wartime U.S. secrets to the Soviet Union.

The El Al flight originally was scheduled to arrive Friday, but was postponed until today by what a spokesman said was mechanical trouble with one of the plane's engines. He said the difficulty had "no connection with Dr. Soblen."

When the midnight deadline passed, the Home Office ordered the Israeli national airline specifically to take Soblen on the rescheduled flight.

The next regularly scheduled El Al flight to New York is due to leave London at 2:45 p.m. Sunday (10:45 a.m. East Liverpool Time).

El Al, which is acting under Israeli government orders, repeatedly has said it would not fly Soblen, who is now in London's Brixton Prison, to New York.

The British government could take steps against the airline's landing rights in Britain for its failure to meet previous deadlines.

SALEM — Two young brothers died and their sister and another brother were injured seriously when struck by a car while playing on or along a township road near their home about a mile northeast Friday afternoon at 4. A fifth child of the family was unhurt.

The mishap claimed the lives of David William Kalbfell, 11, and Frank J. Kalbfell, 5, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Kalbfell of R.D. 3.

They were struck by a car driven by Richard W. Dickey, 19, of 550 Ohio Ave., Salem, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon. The accident was on Township Road 765 — better known as the Cunningham Rd.

The older boy was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital with internal injuries. The other child died at the hospital about half an hour later with a crushed chest.

Injured were Marie Kalbfell, 13, who suffered multiple lacerations and bruises of the body, and Joseph Lee Kalbfell, 4, who received lacerations of the chest and right shoulder and abrasions of the body.

Another brother, Edwin, 8, who also was playing with them, escaped injury.

The deaths marked the 21st and 22nd traffic fatalities in Columbiana County this year, compared to nine for the same period in 1961.

Officers reported Dickey said he topped a hillcrest and saw the five children playing on and near the roadway. He said he applied his brakes and skidded left of center, ran across the highway, hit the children and landed in a ditch.

The patrol said Dickey's 1954 coach slid over 100 feet. The accident occurred about 300 feet from the children's home but the parents did not witness it.

Officers said the car apparently was sideways when it struck the children.

The accident still is under investigation by the patrol, Columbiana County Coroner William Koloszi and the county prosecutor's office.

The driver was not hurt and was released after questioning.

Next Step Now Waited In Georgia Racial Battle

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—City officials weighed today a new request for biracial talks and Negroes planned small-group tests on segregated facilities in lieu of mass demonstrations.

Prospects of a special City Commission session with integration leaders appeared dim while citizens quietly awaited the next development in the long racial controversy in this southwest Georgia city.

In a telegram to the commission, Dr. W. G. Anderson of the Albany Movement asked for reopening of negotiations at the earliest possible date.

The telegram was sent Friday after Anderson and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. announced temporary suspension of the two "prayer pilgrimages" by Negro mothers and a group of white and Negro ministers from other states.

The demonstrations had been planned as protests to the trial of King, Anderson and two other integration leaders.

But the four Negroes were handed suspended sentences and placed on 60-day probation by Judge A. N. Durden Sr. in Re-records Court. The move was unprecedented in this city, where King has been jailed three times in nine months.

Anderson and M. S. Page, executive secretary of the Albany Movement, later signed $400 security (property) bonds for about 25 remaining prisoners, clearing the jails after 418 arrests for demonstrations since July 11.

City Attorney Grady Rawls said during King's trial Friday that segregation laws, voided by the U.S. Supreme Court, weren't considered valid by the city.

It was Rawls' statement which the Negro leaders hopefully interpreted as signaling noninterference with desegregation efforts. Therefore, they said, they would test public facilities with limited groups.

ship and the initial period of the flight," Tass said.

"The television image of the cosmonaut and the reports received on the earth show that he feels well," the agency added.

Fifteen minutes after he was shot into space, Moscow Radio said Nikolayev radioed to earth: "I feel good. Everything normal on board. The earth can easily be seen through the porthole."

The new cosmonaut was described as a farm boy and former lumberjack who had yearned to fly since childhood.

During the interval since Titov's flight, there was no news about any attempts to put another Soviet man into space. The only space activity announced during that period was the launching of seven scientific satellites which measured radiation.

The long lull led many Western diplomats in Moscow to speculate that the Kremlin might be diverting some of its space experts and materials into more pressing problems. There was also speculation there had been setbacks in the space program.

Knots of people quickly gathered around street loudspeakers in Moscow when the first announcement was made. Traffic slowed and in some places came to a halt.

Listening posts around the world were told that Nikolayev is transmitting on frequencies 20.006 and 143.625 megahertz (or megacycles) and the space ship is sending signals on 19.995 megahertz.

The orbit carries the space ship to a maximum altitude of 150 miles and the lowest point is 109 miles above the earth. Tass said the orbit is inclined 65 degrees to the plane of the Equator.

Two U.S. astronauts have made orbital flights. John H. Glenn Jr.

Kennedy Eyes The Campaign Trail

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy already is sniffing the heady scent of the campaign trail, three months before the off-year elections.

It's not only because he enjoys campaigning.

This year he has some special interests. He wants to try to elect Democrats who will support him in Congress, to give him what he would consider a true working majority. And he wants to discuss, from the public platform, those issues on which he says "the American people are rather evenly divided."

In November, the entire House of Representatives and 39 senators (five filling unexpired terms) stand for re-election. Along with his judgment of the individual candidate, the American voter will have the opportunity to express his opinion of the President's program, especially the controversial portions of it.

These include health assistance for the aged, the farm bill, the proposal for a department of urban affairs, and the general education bill.

Conservative Democrats joined with the Republicans in blocking this legislation.

Kennedy recently was asked if he will take "reprisals" against such Democrats. He answered

"no" and said most of them come from "one-party areas." He went on to say:

"I'm going to help elect Democrats who support this program. The areas I'll be campaigning in are ... where there will be a very clear choice between Republicans who oppose these actions and Democrats who support them."

At present, there are 263 Democrats and 174 Republicans in the House of Representatives. The lineup in the Senate is 64 to 36.

That looks like a working majority for the President. But he frequently points out that the tally on some key measures has been very close and that a switch of only two or three votes would have changed defeat to victory.

The Republicans, meanwhile, gleefully remind him that when the Senate killed "Medicare," 21 Democrats, including a number of the committee chairmen, voted against the bill. They hoot at his description of this total as "a handful."

Kennedy says that if the Democrats lose five seats in the House in November, his working majority, "such as it is," will be gone.

He would like to gain five seats, and to pick up 10 would be "wonderful."

His advisors, who demonstrated considerable political acumen during his own campaign of 1960, say it will be a victory if Democratic majorities hold at the present levels—in short, if they can break even.

Four principal imponderables bear on the outlook for November.

One is the economy. A recession, whatever the dimensions, would give the Republicans added ammunition. They already are calling the break in stock market prices the "Kennedy crash."

A second is the perennial question: Can a popular president invest the candidates in his party with some of his popularity? Polls indicate that Kennedy's stock is high now. But not even former President Eisenhower's immense popularity was enough to give him a Republican Congress.

The third imponderable pivots on the ability of Kennedy and other Democrats to explain complicated legislation, and to fire the voters to indignation over what Congress did to specific measures. The proposal for a department of urban affairs, for example. How many people understand what its functions would be and why the administration says such an agency is needed?

Health assistance for the aged is another case in point. The pros and cons of the various proposals on it are not easy to understand. The White House mail reportedly shows that a majority of the writers favor Kennedy's proposal, but not by any overwhelming margins. Anyway, since letter-writing campaigns can be organized, the mail is not necessarily a reliable barometer of public opinion.

And finally, there is the factor of political history.

In all the mid-term elections of this century, the party holding the White House made relative gains in Congress only once. In 1934, during Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, the Democrats picked up 10 Senate seats and nine in the House. Otherwise, the "ins" always lost ground. Thus, Kennedy frequently says, "history is against us."

Soviet Hurls Charges On West Berlin

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union has sent notes to the three Western allies protesting "the intensification of provocative acts in West Berlin against East Germany, the Soviet Union and other Socialist states," Tass reported today.

The Soviet note, the news agency said, was sent to the United States, France and Britain.

It said:

"The West Berlin authorities, in collusion with the Federal German Republic, have recently been organizing new serious provocations. Fascist elements in West Berlin have been trying in the last few days to blow up the frontier constructions of the German Democratic Republic.

"Bomb explosions have led in a number of cases to loss of life. Leaflets directly appealing for sabotage activities against the government of the German Democratic Republic and other Socialist countries are being dropped from West Berlin."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I determine, before painting my walls, just what the ultimate shade my flat wall paint will be when it has dried?

A. You can brush a little of your paint on a clean white blotter. The blotter will soak up the oils quickly and leave the pigments on the surface, where they will assume the same color as when dry on your wall.

Q. How can I remove a corroded retaining cap on a vacuum bottle when I am replacing the glass filler?

A. Place a plywood collar around the cap and clamp it in a vise. Wrap some adhesive tape around the bottle to afford a good grip, and the retaining cap will unscrew readily.

But her innards have gone awry. The lighting system is on the blink.

When her heart lighted, so too, did her gall bladder.

That created considerable confusion.

Court Rulings Hurt Unions

NEW YORK (AP) —Federal courts here dealt blows to two unions having labor disputes with Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways.

In one action Friday, U.S. Dist. Judge John F. Dooling Jr. blocked a strike against Pan American threatened last midnight by extending a restraining order against the Transport Workers Union (AFL-CIO). A further hearing resumes Monday.

Another federal judge denied a union request for a temporary restraining order to prevent Eastern from making individual labor contracts with striking flight engineers.

This union, the Flight Engineers International Association, also was rebuffed when it sought to keep Eastern from training co-pilots to replace engineers who have walked out.

At the same time, however, a city magistrate issued a summons for the appearance of Eastern President Malcolm A. MacIntyre on a charge of violating a new city law prohibiting the importation of strikebreakers.

In the Eastern dispute, U.S. Dist. Judge Wilfred Feinberg denied the two motions of the flight engineers union and criticized both sides for showing during negotiations "something less than an acute awareness of the needs of the public."

Magistrate Aaron F. Goldstein's summons for Eastern's president was issued at the request of two Eastern flight engineers. The summons is returnable in the Flushing, Queens, court Tuesday.

A new city law which prohibits employers from "willfully employing any strikebreaker to replace employees who are either on strike against or locked out by such employer," according to Goldstein. Eastern resumed some of its flights several weeks ago.

The magistrate said the law stipulates that it is illegal to "transport to the city any person to take the place of a striking employee."

The two men who made the charge against MacIntyre claimed they had seen Sidney Elder, Eastern's flight engineer superintendent in Washington, board a flight out of New York in the capacity of flight engineer.

The two contended, according to Goldstein, that it was not routine for Elder to man the engineer's post on regular flights. They further claimed that he was flown into New York from Washington to make Friday's flight.

Violation of the strikebreaker law is a misdemeanor carrying a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine or one-year imprisonment or both.

Judge 'Chambers'?

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A man walked into Justice Court, glanced at a door marked "Chambers" and asked, "Is Judge Chambers in?" Suppressing a chuckle, Clerk Eddie Akers explained that the door led to the chambers of Judge Clark H. Johnson.

The Social Security Act was passed in 1935.

An Old-Fashioned Scene

Herb And Harry Have Their Day

By SAUL PETT

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — It was an old-fashioned scene, warm and comforting, like the memory of an old July 4 picnic.

There was the park in the little crossroads town, the speakers on the flag-draped wooden platform, the little boys wrestling in the grass and playing in the creek during the oratory, the adult crowd squinting respectfully in the bright sun, the respectfully trees, the little refreshment stands set up by the church groups, the high school bands, the flag and bunting over the street, the mothers holding up their babies to see the two aging men who had been presidents of the United States.

They had come to see Herbert Hoover, 88, Friday, and Harry S. Truman, 78, dedicate the Hoover Presidential Library at his birthplace.

They saw two men who had become fast friends over the years despite broad differences in their politics and personalities. They loved them both, in different ways.

They gave Hoover their respectful attention, murmured quietly over his understatement, and they laughed softly at his subtle humor. They yelped at Truman, and roared at his broad comedy.

With deep feeling they sang, "Happy Birthday, Mr. Hoover." Truman sang along, too, and when it was over, he blew a kiss at the 31st president of the United States.

Several people in the crowd yelled "Hi, Harry." Nobody yelled "Hi, Herbert."

Truman praised Hoover as "one of America's greatest men," spoke of the presidential burdens and with typical gusto added: "And nobody knows better than I do, and I had one hell of a time with it."

He spoke of Hoover's great contributions as a humanitarian after two world wars. He advised youngsters in the audience to study the presidency, since one day one of them might reach the White House. Just as suddenly he called how happy he was to leave the job.

Then he was saying: "They tried to kick me out before that, but when someone tries to run over me, they know they got something to run over."

Hoover sat impassively, listening to this and other speeches which covered him with praise, his misty eyes surveying the scene of his boyhood.

When his turn came, he rose and sat on a cushion stool, folded his arms across his chest and spoke clearly and evenly and in a relaxed way, like a professor emeritus returning to the old campus for one more farewell lecture.

He ad-libbed about the "over-statements" made about him. He said it would take too much time to reply to each and, in his poker-faced way, added, "but I will simplify it all for you by saying they are all true."

Secret Report Awaited On Equal Job Rights Plan

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A still secret report by a New York labor lawyer proposes a top level shakeup of President Kennedy's committee on equal job rights for Negroes a well placed government source said today.

As outlined by the government source, the proposed reorganization may well turn out to be political dynamite for the Kennedy administration among Negro voters.

The report was prepared by Theodore Kheel at the request of Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

It advises, the source said, that the government emphasize voluntary rather than compulsory compliance with Kennedy's anti-discrimination employment order for contractors doing business with it.

John Feild, executive director of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, has told his staff that if the plan is carried through, he will resign.

Feild is known through the government as a strong advocate of enforcing the President's anti-discrimination order.

Robert Troutman Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., a friend of Kennedy and also a close friend of Sen. Herman Tamm, D-Ga., has set up a separate program based on voluntary rather than compulsory compliance.

Troutman, a member of the President's committee, calls his voluntary program the "plan for progress."

Troutman, who maintains a separate staff and a separate office, has signed up 85 of the nation's largest corporations in the volunteer program. These firms employ about 4.5 million people.

The source said that while Troutman had shown the white-Negro employment records of 52 of the firms to Feild's staff, he had yet to make reports on the other 33.

The Kheel report, the source added, suggests more reliance on Troutman's plan for voluntary achievement of improved equal rights employment practices than on compulsory compliance.

He added that the proposal has the support of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, chairman of the committee.

The report by Kheel, former president of the National Urban League and now president of the newly founded Ghandi Society for Human Rights, also recommends that the job of executive vice chairman be made into a paid position. This would downgrade Feild.

The executive vice chairman's job is now held on an acting basis by a Goldberg assistant, Stephen Shulman.

In the aftermath of the Kheel report, two men are reported under consideration to fill the executive vice chairmanship on a permanent basis.

They were identified by the source as Hobart Taylor Jr., and Benjamin Mays, both Negroes.

Taylor, a wealthy Detroit lawyer, is a special assistant to Johnson and also a special counsel for the employment committee.

Mays is president of Morehouse College, a part of Atlanta University in Atlanta, Ga.

Official Hits Talk Of Any Estes Favors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Congress members made no request for favoritism for fellow Texan Billie Sol Estes at a Department of Agriculture hearing last January, a department official has testified.

John Bagwell, chief counsel of the department, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Friday that Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Rep. J. T. Rutherford, both Texas Democrats, "did not ask for any favoritism" for Estes at the Jan. 6 hearing. At the meeting the department rescinded an order canceling the Pecos, Tex., financier's 1961 cotton allotments. The cancellation was reinstated in May and Estes was fined $554,000.

Bagwell also told the subcommittee before it recessed until next Tuesday that he was not informed that Estes reportedly threatened the Kennedy administration unless the department quit investigating his allotments. If he had known, Bagwell said, he would have opposed rescinding the cancellation order.

Testimony before the committee has been that Estes sold Texas land to farmers in other states who had lost their land to public improvements. Then he leased back the land, along with the farmer's transferable cotton growing allotment.

The department contended Estes was not making bona fide sales of his land and ruled against the allotment deals.

Bagwell said he felt the deals were illegal, but favored rescinding the order to give Estes a chance to prove otherwise.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean out a bottle that has contained sour milk?

A. Baking soda and hot water will cleanse this bottle. Shake it with vigor, and rinse the bottle in cold water. A pinch of baking soda in water will clean milk bottles or buttermilk glass, if allowed to stand for a short time.

Q. How can I remove wine stains from a tablecloth?

A. Dip the cloth into boiling milk, and keep repeating this until the stain has disappeared. Then launder the cloth in the usual manner.

Q. How can I remove some stubborn paint stains from clothing?

A. These will usually yield readily to a mixture of turpentine (or mineral spirits) and ammonia. Rub this well into the fabric before cleaning.

Q. How can I drill a hole into glass?

A. Use a regular steel drill, and keep the point of contact saturated with camphorated oil or turpentine. The ease with which this is done will surprise you. Be very careful, though! Don't exert too much pressure.

Board Rejects Plea In Deportation Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Board of Immigration Appeals in Washington has turned down the appeal from a deportation order of Dr. Nydia Barker Lyth, former professor and head of the chemistry department at Findlay College.

Thomas M. Pederson, district immigration and naturalization director here, said notice of the dismissal of the appeal was received by his office Friday.

The government charged that Dr. Lyth entered the country illegally from Cuba in 1960. She had left the United States following a deportation order in 1951 in which she was accused of Communist affiliations in the 1930s.

Court Rulings Hurt Unions

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal courts here dealt blows to two unions having labor disputes with Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways.

In one action Friday, U.S. Dist. Judge John F. Dooling Jr. blocked a strike against Pan American threatened last midnight by extending a restraining order against the Transport Workers Union (AFL-CIO). A further hearing resumes Monday.

Another federal judge denied a union request for a temporary restraining order to prevent Eastern from making individual labor contracts with striking flight engineers.

This union, the Flight Engineers International Association, also was rebuffed when it sought to keep Eastern from training co-pilots to replace engineers who have walked out.

At the same time, however, a city magistrate issued a summons for the appearance of Eastern President Malcolm A. MacIntyre on a charge of violating a new city law prohibiting the importation of strikebreakers.

In the Eastern dispute, U.S. Dist. Judge Wilfred Feinberg denied the two motions of the flight engineers union and criticized both sides for showing during negotiations "something less than an acute awareness of the needs of the public."

Magistrate Aaron F. Goldstein's summons for Eastern's president was issued at the request of two Eastern flight engineers. The summons is returnable in the Flushing, Queens, court Tuesday.

A new city law which prohibits employers from "willfully employing any strikebreaker to replace employees who are either on strike against or locked out by such employer," according to Goldstein.

Eastern resumed some of its flights several weeks ago.

The magistrate said the law stipulates that it is illegal to "transport to the city any person to take the place of a striking employee."

The two men who made the charge against MacIntyre claimed they had seen Sidney Elder, Eastern's flight engineer superintendent in Washington, board a flight out of New York in the capacity of flight engineer.

The two contended, according to Goldstein, that it was not routine for Elder to man the engineer's post on regular flights. They further claimed that he was flown into New York from Washington to make Friday's flight.

Violation of the strikebreaker law is a misdemeanor carrying a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine or one-year imprisonment or both.

Religion In 10 U.S. Cities

Fresh perspective on religion in the United States is given in a book by Rabbi Eugene J. Lipman and Albert Vorspan of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

In their "Tale of Ten Cities" — Cleveland, Boston, New York, Los Angeles, Muncie, Nashville, Philadelphia, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Plainview, Long Island, the two men make one revelation in particular that shatters a long-held conception.

It is the revelation, based on facts in the 10 cities they studied, that the United States is no longer a Protestant country — at least of all in cities. "Protestants have developed a minority response in many of the key cities of America," they declare.

Over-all, it may be assumed Protestants continue to hold a numerical edge, despite this situation. But it is difficult to quarrel with the belief of Lipman and Vorspan that in terms of influence on government, the one-time dominance of Protestant thought and action has dwindled.

"When the breezes of secularism blew briskly over the land (in the 1920s)," say the authors of "Tale of Ten Cities," "they hit the Protestant churches with the force of a tornado. Protestant hegemony gradually faded and secularism dominated the American intellectual. Yet Roman Catholicism began to rise like a dawning sun."

This is but one of a number of observations that will feed discussion. Another provocative statement concerns the likelihood that atheists and secularists may be reduced to second-class citizenship as religionists demand ever-stricter conformity to their conflicting creeds.

The authors refer to evolution of a "triple ghetto" — and the strict separation of Protestants, Catholics and Jews according to issues and sociological groupings, with non-believers barred and unable to form their own "ghetto" because of their very absence of belief.

"The Tale of Ten Cities" will be the most discussed book of the year wherever religionists talk together.

Real All-Stars

More people have heard of East Liverpool, Ohio, as the result of the spirited play of the Pony League All-Stars in winning the sectional baseball championship at Parkersburg, W. Va.

The competition was rugged, but the boys had the come-from-behind drive that won them the admiration of friend and foe alike.

We hope they go all the way as the tournament progresses. But regardless of whether they win or lose from now on, they have been a credit to the community and have more than justified the faith which so many placed in them when they dug down for the dollars which made the trip to Parkersburg possible.

Three Views Of Kerr-Mills Act

Anthony J. Celebrezze, former mayor of Cleveland now learning the ropes as head of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, grabbed one rope in his first press conference that may be tied to surprising consequences.

He said there will be a need for the Kerr-Mills Act providing medical aid to the aged through the states' public assistance programs whether the Kennedy administration's "medicare" plan ultimately passes or not. He said the Kerr-Mills Act hasn't been given a fair test because many states have failed to do anything about it.

In a report published last June, Sen. McNamara, D-Mich., wrote as follows, speaking as chairman of a special committee on aging:

"Kerr-Mills has fallen considerably short of the goals set by its more optimistic proponents. After 18 months less than one-half of the states have the Kerr-Mills program of medical assistance for the aged in operation."

"This situation arises not through any lack of good faith or good intentions but because of weaknesses inherent in this legislative approach which prevent it from being a significant weapon in meeting the medical requirements of America's elderly. Indeed, a careful reading of the report makes it obvious that Kerr-Mills — by itself — cannot be expected to meet these requirements either now or in the years to come."

Praying Cannot Be Official

A question before the state education commissioner of New York could clear up the unfortunate misrepresentation of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling against official prayers if it's answered correctly.

The Supreme Court ruling was made on a case that developed in New York City when parents objected to use of an official prayer in a public school. The question now before the state education commissioner concerns the same issue.

This time the text of the prayer happens to be the last stanza of "The Star-Spangled Banner," designated by the Board of Education of Hicksville, N. Y., as an official prayer. This makes the issue clear-cut. No one has any objection to the words of "The Star-Spangled Banner" when used in the customary way.

However, taken out of context and distinguished as an official prayer, the words give rise to the same question settled by the U.S. Supreme Court previously. Can a public agency designate an official prayer?

Praying is not in the jurisdiction of government in the United States. Public officials were instructed in the First Amendment to keep their hands off religion and must be slapped down every time they stray off the reservation.

The objection is not to prayer but to busy-body public jobholders who would like to prescribe official prayers. The newest case to arise in New York, if decided correctly in the light of the Supreme Court decision, will make it plain that not even the words of "The Star-Spangled Banner" can be made into an official prayer. Nothing can be designated as an official prayer. There can be no such thing as an official prayer in the United States.

By Truman Twill

Gradually, all meaningful sounds fade away and there is nothing left to listen to but the meaningless noises of the few seconds of eternity we're permitted to share. There is nothing worth listening to, yet nothing evokes more nostalgia than what we hear. Records of crickets, tree frogs and cicadas are standard dramatic effects. They can create a lump in the throat and an ache in the heart.

The reason is because of man's memories of sounds during his long, shuffling procession through the corridors of time — a procession there were any sounds to hear than the small ones made by nature's rudimentary elements.

Birds had not begun to sing, nor men to chatter, nor the impedimenta of modern life to rumble and clatter. All that was heard was the almost inaudible murmur of earth itself.

To be heard it has to be listened to closely, though it was always there in the memory recesses of the human mind. That's what happens when The Great Hush heard for the first time. Memory is stirred.

There is a matching of memory and reality.

"The Great Hush" is what it was ten thousand times ten thousand years ago and will be when that much more time has elapsed. To hear it is to be on pitch for the eternal symphony — the sound of existence — the residue of everything that ever has been heard when finally there is nothing left to hear.

Listen to The Hush some August night at dusk. That's the best time.

'The Great Hush'

Pardon me if I get wistful about something. For the umpteenth time a reader has asked for a clipping of a column written long ago — "The Great Hush."

I have no more idea than a rabbit when "The Great Hush" was published. I remember the idea and refer to it each year about this time. But no Twill clippings ever have been put away, except for a few hundred at the beginning and those were mislaid many years ago.

Requests for clippings cannot be complied with, unless they are for columns that appeared only a few weeks before. In that case there always are a few papers still lying around from which clippings can be made. Otherwise, the only way to take a second look is to find the original on the microfilms.

But about The Great Hush . . .

We heard it again last night on our hillside. My daughter-in-law was hearing it for the first time. How did I know? Because she was sitting very still, with her head thrown back, hugging her knees in a little-girl position.

Finally she asked what the dominant sound in the hush was, and I told her it was a tree frog and the secondary sound was crickets. She didn't refer to it as the "hush," because she was hearing it for the first time. She didn't understand.

When she's older she will think of it as the "hush" — when she realizes that the "hush" is the paradox of sound-filled soundlessness that becometh us thoughtful ones each year as summer sinks into the climatological coma called autumn.

U.S. Does All Right In India

By Victor Riesel

NEW DELHI

A phone call was placed the other night in Room 628 of the Ashoka Hotel to the luxury three-room Suite No. 440. A man answered. He would not talk. I know. I placed the call. The man who answered was First Deputy Chairman of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers — as Mikoyan.

Victor Riesel

He had just spent 65 minutes with ailing Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Vice Chairman Mikoyan was passing through here on his way home from Jakarta. He had just one night. But he was handling it with finesse, including a candle-light dinner in the lush dining room known as Suite No. 555.

That is the way of the Russians. There were mutual toasts to eternal friendship and aid not only for the third five-year plan of the Indians but the fourth, the fifth and so on into time.

THE SOVIETS are trying real hard here to win over India's 438 million people — of whom at least 9 million are jobless, and the "underemployed" are upwards of 18 million. This means they earn 30 to 40 cents a day. A skilled worker — such as an electrician — earns $1.50 a day.

So the Russians try in the hope the teeming hungry masses will come day Sovietize or China-fy India. How do they try? There is, for example, the very efficient Bhilai steel mill in the State of Madhya Pradesh. The Russians built it. They put over 700 skilled men into it so that a Soviet technician virtually stood alongside every valve and lever and button.

But nothing was left either to chance or to any of the lesser Russian technicians. The Soviets sent in the equivalent of our presidential cabinet officers to see to it that the mill would operate as a showpiece — and these men nursed it from the first excavation to the final furnaces.

IN CHARGE was Veniamin E. Dymshits. He was in India for months. When he returned to Moscow they made him chairman of the Soviet State Planning Committee as well as Deputy Premier (vice chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R.).

This is the equivalent of a committee made up of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and U.S. Steel Chairman Roger Blough coming in to supervise the construction and operation of just one mill here.

For the Russians not only had Dymshits here but also a M. Sergeev, who acted as economic counsellor of the Soviet Embassy in this city. He was in charge of economic penetration of India. When he returned to Moscow he turned out to be the deputy chairman of the State Committee on Economics for Foreign Affairs of the entire Soviet government.

The Bhilai steel mill has operated beautifully. The British-German-American efforts in steel have not gone so well. The Russians spent over $168 million. What did they get for it in political terms? Not much.

DESPITE A STRONG veteran labor movement here and a smoothly functioning Communist party apparatus the Soviets have not succeeded in winning either the affection or support of the Indian people even though the poverty and hunger are so vast, it is almost unimaginable back home!

Let's look at the vote for Parliament. In 1957, the Communists polled 9.78 per cent of the vote. This year, the Party (CPI) polled 9.98 per cent. Not much gain for $168 million — not to mention the mammoth party organization — in a land with 165 million workers.

Why? Because India is not V. K. Krishna Menon. The Indians know what our people are trying to do for their people. They have a desperate need for electric power. We have tried to create this for them by providing a long-term loan of $143 million.

The Indians must maintain a swift railroad system. Their vehicle roads are what ours were in 1905. There are no highways as we know them. We have helped them keep their rail system modern.

We have sent medical teams deep into almost primitive village malaria control and eradication have saved millions.

BEFORE WORLD WAR II there were an estimated 100 million cases of malaria in Indian each year. Of these, 2 million were lethal. We spent over $48 million here in the fight on the disease. We trained key personnel. We bought Jeeps and trucks. We piled up insecticide. We trained, we transported. Today, the best figures available reveal that the incidence of malaria has been reduced by over 80 million cases a year.

We have helped in college nurse training development. We have built fertilizer plants so the earth of old Mother India could be coaxed to give up more food. I could list a hundred projects here.

The Indian working people know this. India's intellectual know this. India's labor leaders are aware of this. They are, for the most part, with us. You would not know it from the unpleasant face Krishna Menon puts on all India when he is in the U.S. But that is his special technique — to make us hate him and therefore dislike India.

We denounce him. He reprints these insults here in India. Thus the pro-Soviet Menon makes it appear that we are against all Indians and all India. He comes between us and the great mass of people here.

IN DELHI they have a gag. The say that they are suffering from a bad case of Menongitis.

Well, let's not catch that fever. We are a lot more popular here, and there is far more distrust of the Sino-Soviet bloc than we realize back home.

So Anastas Mikoyan can have his candlelight dinners. Democratic civilization has the Indian people. That's a fair exchange.

Public Confidence

By David Lawrence

Drug Tests Should Be Properly Conducted

Periodically in American history there has been a national furor over a poisoned food or a harmful drug. The end result of the agitation is usually beneficial.

The public demand for closer supervision or investigation is heeded. The current controversy comes at a time when drugs in other countries, as well as our own, have achieved a remarkable acceptance. People have had an almost unbounded confidence in the drugs offered them. But now there is a danger the reaction may go the other way and confidence in drugs as such may diminish.

Hence in what the government does now it is essential to protect the public. But it is important also to continue drug research that can reduce human suffering and increase the span of life.

The average person knows very little about the risks involved in drugs that haven't been widely tested. It is doubtful if the mind of the prospective user turns very much to the risks involved. The tendency is to believe in the doctor who prescribes it or the pharmacist who recommends it.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration was established as the result of a law passed June 30, 1906, during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt. It was created largely because of the widespread controversy developed at the time by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who assailed the distribution of adulterated foods and drugs.

A law also was passed on the same day requiring inspection of meat-packing establishments, some of which had been accused of maintaining unsanitary facilities.

MUCH PROGRESS has been made in this field during the last 56 years. But again and again it has been brought to the attention of the public that regulation is inadequate or that inspection is not as effective as it should be.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration is part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. New regulations on drugs have just been drafted for study by the medical profession, the drug industry, scientific societies and other interested groups. The regulations will go into effect with such changes or improvements as may result from the comments of those making the study during the next 60 days.

Broadly speaking, the basic principles are related to full disclosure of what a drug contains and a requirement for thorough investigation of the effects noted in the testing process.

Doctors as a rule do not tell their patients to take drugs that are risky. Where there is a risk, it is outlined and the patient may use his discretion whether or not to participate in a test.

What is very important to police is the nature and scope of the investigations made when drugs are being tested. How competent who do the testing? Are the drugs tried out under proper limitations and with comprehensive records kept about the "side effects"? These are the objectives of the new regulations, though it may be said the purposes have been the same in the past.

THE CHANGE today is in the degree of intensity in policing the experimental process itself. Some zealous distributors of drugs are unwilling to wait for a thorough check. Sometimes incompetent persons will make the tests. Sometimes there is inefficiency in collecting or in studying the data.

Disclosure of the contents of a drug is not adequate in itself, because most people are unfamiliar with technical terms. It is the doctor or the pharmacist who needs to be advised of the results of tests and whether any danger signs have been noted.

Drugs tested with good results on animals may be injurious when used by human beings. Also, drugs intended for use in treating certain ailments may prove harmful among patients who have ailments of another kind at the same time.

Testing is a long and laborious process. Impatience sets in when the public hears of a "miracle" cure for some disease, and the remedy is for one reason or another withheld. Not many years ago, the criticism heard was that doctors hesitated too long to prescribe remedies, even when the drugs noted in the headlines were said to be achieving good results.

The problem, therefore, is not going to be solved entirely by any new set of regulations. Many of the dangers will be eliminated by requirements of full disclosure. But the chances of error will be diminished only if the whole investigating process is better handled and more safeguards are introduced against premature distribution of drugs that may have damaging effects.

But it would be tragic if the public furor about the unfortunate results in the last few months in the use of thalidomide causes people to lose confidence in all manner of drugs. Salk vaccine, for example, has accomplished wonders in cutting down the toll of polio, but it went through a long period of experimentation before it was released and finally given the approval of the medical profession.

Many other advances have been made, especially in the use of penicillin and various antibiotics. But, again, not everybody can take them. There seems to be no rule of thumb about drugs. Yet they have prolonged human life and have reduced physical suffering.

So long as tests are properly conducted, public confidence in new drugs will be maintained.

Letters To The Editor

Let me, through this paper, offer my thanks and congratulations to the committee of young men and women who so thoughtfully planned and invited all students of the 1952 high school graduating class for their reunion.

They are to be commended. I for one was much enthused as my son, Leonard Hanlon, was one of the class. He attended the reunion with his wife, who he married while overseas in Holland. As she has taken her oath and become a naturalized citizen, it made quite an impression on her to have been able to meet such a nice group of young people all at one time.

My son, his wife and children are stationed at the Air Force base at Omaha, Neb.

Again, many thanks to the committee and all others who in any way participated in the reunion.

MRS. ANN HANLON AIKENS
415 Prospect St.

I want to compliment Mrs. George Guyton for her well-written letter protesting the use of chemicals to kill vegetation along our roadways. She put into words what I have been thinking for some time.

I have just returned from a vacation trip to California, during which time my family and I crossed 21 states, traveling over 8,400 miles. Several times we saw workmen cutting grass and weeds as we rode along, but in not one of the 21 states did we see dead vegetation lining the roadways.

That is, not until we came back into Ohio. I am proud to live in this state, but I am not proud of the "man-made" blight that meets the eye of the motorist as he rides along.

I believe those of us who agree with Mrs. Guyton should write letters of protest to our state government and thus do our part to keep Ohio green and beautiful. I plan to do just that.

He said there will be a need for the Kerr-Mills Act providing medical aid to the aged through the states' public assistance programs whether the Kennedy administration's "medicare" plan ultimately passes or not. He said the Kerr-Mills Act hasn't been given a fair test because many states have failed to do anything about it.

"Kerr-Mills has fallen considerably short of the goals set by its more optimistic proponents. After 18 months less than one-half of the states have the Kerr-Mills program of medical assistance for the aged in operation.

"This situation arises not through any lack of good faith or good intentions but because of weaknesses inherent in this legislative approach which prevent it from being a significant weapon in meeting the medical requirements of America's elderly. Indeed, a careful reading of the report makes it obvious that Kerr-Mills — by itself — cannot be expected to meet these requirements either now or in the years to come.

"A program of hospital and related insurance benefits under social security should make it financially feasible for all the states to implement the Kerr-Mills medical assistance for the aged program. The two programs together would provide the broad base of financial assistance that would help assure older Americans independence, dignity and security in their retirement."

Could this statement have been the source of Secretary Celebrezze's comment.

Meanwhile, the president of the Ohio State Medical Association, Dr. George J. Hamvi of Columbus, had this to say about the Kerr-Mills Act:

"Those who say Ohio is not providing an active medical assistance program for the needy aged are either uninformed or misinformed. Ohio is receiving federal funds under the Kerr-Mills Law for this medical care program. Ohio has a medical care program of long standing for aged Ohioans needing help — a program superior to those in most other states."

Ohio never adopted the Kerr-Mills program's significant change — financial assistance for the older citizens who previously had been ineligible for such assistance.

The part of the law in which Ohio shares was one of a series of congressional acts liberalizing federal sharing in already established relief programs — the "program of long standing for aged Ohioans needing help," as described by Dr. Hamvi.

NEW DELHI A phone call was placed the other night in Room 628 of the Ashoka Hotel to the luxury three-room Suite No. 440. A man answered. He would not talk. I know. I placed the call. The man who answered was First Deputy Chairman of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers, Mikoyan.

He had just spent 65 minutes with ailing Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Vice Chairman Mikoyan was passing through here on his way home from Jakarta. He had just one night. But he was handling it with finesse, including a candle-light dinner in the lush dining room known as Suite No. 355.

That is the way of the Russians. There were mutual toasts to eternal friendship and aid not only for the third five-year plan of the Indians but the fourth, the fifth and so on into time.

THE SOVIETS are trying real hard here to win over India's 438 million people — of whom at least 9 million are jobless, and the "underemployed" are upwards of 18 million. This means they earn 30 to 40 cents a day. A skilled worker — such as an electrician — earns $1.50 a day.

So the Russians try in the hope the teeming hungry masses will some day Sovietize or China-fy India. How do they try? There is, for example, the very efficient Bhilai steel mill in the State of Madhya Pradesh. The Russians built it. They put over 700 skilled men into it so that a Soviet technician virtually stood alongside every valve and lever and button.

But nothing was left either to chance or to any of the lesser Russian technicians. The Soviets sent in the equivalent of our presidential cabinet officers to see to it that the mill would operate as a showpiece — and these men nursed it from the first excavation to the final furnaces.

IN CHARGE was Veniamin E. Dymshits. He was in India for months. When he returned to Moscow they made him chairman of the Soviet State Planning Committee as well as Deputy Premier (vice chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R.)

This is the equivalent of a committee made up of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and U.S. Steel Chairman Roger Blough coming in to supervise the construction and operation of just one mill here.

For the Russians not only had Dymshits here but also a M. Sergeev, who acted as economic counselor of the Soviet Embassy in this city. He was in charge of economic penetration of India. When he returned to Moscow he turned out to be the deputy chairman of the State Committee on Economics for Foreign Affairs of the entire Soviet government.

The Bhilai steel mill has operated beautifully. The British-German-American efforts in steel have not gone so well. The Russians spent over $168 million. What did they get for it in political terms? Not much.

DESPITE A STRONG veteran labor movement here and a smoothly functioning Communist party apparatus the Soviets have not succeeded in winning either the affection or support of the Indian people even though the poverty and hunger are so vast, it is almost unimaginable back home!

Let's look at the vote for Parliament. In 1957, the Communists polled 9.78 per cent of the vote. This year, the Party (CPI) polled 9.98 per cent. Not much gain for $168 million — not to mention the mammoth party organization — in a land with 165 million workers.

Why? Because India is not V. K. Krishna Menon. The Indians know what our people are trying to do for their people. They have a desperate need for electric power. We have tried to create this for them by providing a long-term loan of $143 million.

The Indians must maintain a swift railroad system. Their vehicle roads are what ours were in 1905. There are no highways as we know them. We have helped them keep their rail system modern.

We have sent medical teams deep into almost primitive village malaria control and eradication have saved millions.

Public Confidence

By David Lawrence

Drug Tests Should Be Properly Conducted

Periodically in American history there has been a national furor over a poisoned food or a harmful drug. The end result of the agitation is usually beneficial.

The public demand for closer supervision or investigation is heeded. The current controversy comes at a time when drugs in other countries, as well as our own, have achieved a remarkable acceptance. People have had an almost unbounded confidence in the drugs offered them. But now there is a danger the reaction may go the other way and confidence in drugs as such may diminish.

Hence in what the government does now it is essential to protect the public. But it is important also to continue drug research that can reduce human suffering and increase the span of life.

The average person knows very little about the risks involved in drugs that haven't been widely tested. It is doubtful if the mind of the prospective user turns very much to the risks involved. The tendency is to believe in the doctor who prescribes it or the pharmacist who recommends it.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration was established as the result of a law passed June 30, 1906, during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt. It was created largely because of the widespread controversy developed at the time by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who assailed the distribution of adulterated foods and drugs.

A law also was passed on the same day requiring inspection of meat - packing establishments, some of which had been accused of maintaining unsanitary facilities.

MUCH PROGRESS has been made in this field during the last 56 years. But again and again it has been brought to the attention of the public that regulation is inadequate or that inspection is not as effective as it should be.

U.S. Food and Drug Administration is part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. New regulations on drugs have just been drafted for study by the medical profession, the drug industry, scientific societies and other interested groups. The regulations will go into effect with such changes or improvements as may result from the comments of those making the study during the next 60 days.

Broadly speaking, the basic principles are related to full disclosure of what a drug contains and a requirement for thorough investigation of the effects noted in the testing process.

Doctors as a rule do not tell their patients to take drugs that are risky. Where there is a risk, it is outlined and the patient may use his discretion whether or not to participate in a test.

What is very important to police is the nature and scope of the investigations made when drugs are being tested. How competent who do the testing? Are the drugs tried out under proper limitations end with comprehensive records kept about the "side effects"? These are the objectives of the new regulations, though it may be said the purposes have been the same in the past.

THE CHANGE today is in the degree of intensity in policing the experimental process itself. Some zealous distributors of drugs are unwilling to wait for a thorough check. Sometimes incompetent persons will make the tests. Sometimes there is inefficiency in collecting or in studying the data.

Disclosure of the contents of a drug is not adequate in itself, because most people are unfamiliar with technical terms. It is the doctor or the pharmacist who needs to be advised of the results of tests and whether any danger signs have been noted.

Drugs tested with good results on animals may be injurious when used by human beings. Also, drugs intended for use in treating certain ailments may prove harmful among patients who have ailments of another kind at the same time.

Testing is a long and laborious process. Impatience sets in when the public hears of a "miracle" cure for some disease, and the remedy is for one reason or another withheld. Not many years ago, the criticism heard was that doctors hesitated too long to prescribe remedies, even when the drugs noted in the headlines were said to be achieving good results.

The problem, therefore, is not going to be solved entirely by any new set of regulations. Many of the dangers will be eliminated by requirements of full disclosure. But the chances of error will be diminished only if the whole investigating process is better handled and more safeguards are introduced against premature distribution of drugs that may have damaging effects.

But it would be tragic if the public furor about the unfortunate results in the last few months in the use of thalidomide causes people to lose confidence in all manner of drugs. Saik vaccine, for example, has accomplished wonders in cutting down the toll of polio, but it went through a long period of experimentation before it was released and finally given the approval of the medical profession.

Many other advances have been made, especially in the use of penicillin and various antibiotics. But, again, not everybody can take them. There seems to be no rule of thumb about drugs. Yet they have prolonged human life and have reduced physical suffering.

So long as tests are properly conducted, public confidence in new drugs will be maintained.

Letters To The Editor

Let me, through this paper, offer my thanks and congratulations to the committee of young men and women who so thoughtfully planned and invited all students of the 1952 high school graduating class for their reunion.

They are to be commended. I for one was much enthused as my son, Leonard Hanlon, was one of the class. He attended the reunion with his wife, who he married while overseas in Holland. As she has taken her oath and become a naturalized citizen, it made quite an impression on her to have been able to meet such a nice group of young people all at one time.

My son, his wife and children are stationed at the Air Force base at Omaha, Neb.

Again, many thanks to the committee and all others who in any way participated in the reunion.

MRS. ANN HANLON AIKENS
415 Prospect St.

I want to compliment Mrs. George Guyton for her well-written letter protesting the use of chemicals to kill vegetation along our roadways. She put into words what I have been thinking for some time.

I have just returned from a vacation trip to California, during which time my family and I crossed 21 states, traveling over 8,400 miles. Several times we saw workmen cutting grass and weeds as we rode along, but in not one of the 21 states did we see dead vegetation lining the roadways.

That is, not until we came back into Ohio. I am proud to live in this state, but I am not proud of the "man-made" blight that meets the eye of the motorist as he rides along.

I believe those of us who agree with Mrs. Guyton should write letters of protest to our state government and thus do our part to keep Ohio green and beautiful. I plan to do just that.

Estes Named In Another Indictment

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted Billie Sol Estes Friday on three counts of filing false liability statements with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corp.

The indictment is the 10th so far against the West Texas financier, and indications are the special grand jury is not through. It kept two of Estes' brothers available for further testimony.

The jury recessed until 9:30 a.m. Monday after hearing from both Dr. John Estes Jr., of Abilene, Tex., and Bobby Frank Estes of Pecos.

The 22-member panel also returned a five-count indictment against Robert Earl Clements Sr., 67, of Amarillo. Clements was a co-founder of the depression era Townsend Plan for old-age pensions.

Charges of interstate transportation of forged securities were filed against Clements, who once owned the Superior Manufacturing Co. of Amarillo.

Judge T. Whitfield Davidson set bond of $10,000 on Estes and $5,000 on Clements.

Assistant Priest At Midland Will Serve At Burgettstown

Fr. Thomas M. Rodgers, assistant pastor of the Midland Presentation Catholic Church, has been transferred in six appointments announced by Bishop John J. Wright of the Pittsburgh Diocese Friday. The new assignments are effective Tuesday.

Fr. Rodgers, who has been at the Midland church since December 1960, will serve as assistant pastor at Our Lady of Lourdes Church at Burgettstown and its mission, SS. Peter and Paul of Cherry Valley.

He will be succeeded by Fr. John G. Sabovick, assistant priest at St. Paulinus Church at Clairton.

Fr. Rodgers is a native of Pittsburgh and was ordained June 11, 1944, at St. Vincent Archabbey after six years at St. Vincent.

He has served as assistant pastor at several churches. His first appointment was at St. Joseph's Church in Natrona, for four months, at St. Raphael's Church at East Liberty, Pittsburgh, for 7½ years, and then the Annunciation Church at North Side, Pittsburgh for four years. Before coming to Midland, he was pastor of St. Athanasius Church at West View, Pittsburgh for 4½ years.

The congregation will hold a farewell reception Sunday at 7 p. m. in the church lyceum.

Rebels

to extend the hold-fire for a few more hours. A rebel spokesman said the Guido-Toranzo Montero meeting proved unsatisfactory.

"Gen. Toranzo Montero accepts nothing," the spokesman said. He said the resignations submitted within the cabinet, apparently including that of Defense Minister Jose Luis Cantillo, "are not enough. I cannot say more."

No statement came from the presidential residence.

A truck asked by Guido to avoid bloodshed was maintained during the morning hours. Downtown streets appeared normal.

Insurgents said the rebel aim is to create "a democratic military dictatorship to rule the country for at least five years."

The navy intervention, ostensibly in a peace-making role, appeared to favor the rebels. Pro-insurgent troops aided the marines and sailors in obstructing the advance of loyalist troops from the south.

Scattered shooting broke out in the city, but no major fighting was reported.

Guido met with rebel leader Maj. Gen. Federico Toranzo Montero at the president's suburban residence in an effort to find a solution to the three-day-old crisis, Argentina's third major upheaval in four months.

Guido had already given in to the rebel demand when he fired controversial War Secretary Lt. Gen. Eduardo Senorans early today after Senorans had been in office only 12 hours. Senorans was the second war secretary to quit in two days at the demand of Toranzo Montero.

Toranzo Montero, pint-sized commander of the 4th Army Corps with headquarters in Salta, launched his rebellion Wednesday when he went to the remote city of Jujuy, 800 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, and proclaimed himself army commander in chief. He demanded then that Guido fire Juan Bautista Loza, war minister and army commander in chief. Loza quit that night.

Guido's appointment of Senorans fired the crisis once again. The rebels demanded that he post go to Lt. Gen. Arturo Ossorio Arana, and declared "We will fight" rather than accept Senorans.

Senorans served as the first chief of staff after the military ousted dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955. Ossorio Arana was his successor. He is considered more adamantly anti-Peronist.

Toranzo Montero, imprisoned three years under the Peron dictatorship, came to Buenos Aires Friday but boycotted the meeting that Defense Minister Jose Luis Cantillo called to select Loza's successor.

Toranzo Montero instead went to the Palermo headquarters of the 1st Army mobile division in the northwest part of the Buenos Aires federal district to await the meeting's decision.

On learning of Senorans' selection, a rebel spokesman declared: "Combat is the only answer. There is no other way."

Democrats Open Rally In West Virginia

CHARLESTON — West Virginia Democrats were expected to whoop it up today during their state convention specifically called to nominate a candidate for the state Supreme Court.

But the Democrats used the occasion to kindle a little party spirit for the off-year election campaign.

They trotted out Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey as the keynote speaker for the Charleston Civic Center gathering. Also on the speaking agenda were Gov. Barron and former State Senate President Ralph J. Bean of Moorefield.

As for the business at hand, Judge Fred H. Caplan was expected to be handed the court nomination without serious opposition.

Caplan, now filling the Supreme Court vacancy under an interim appointment by the governor, the Democratic nominee will oppose Republican Circuit Judge Max DeBerry of Harrisville in the November election for the unexpired term of the late Judge Leslie E. Given. DeBerry was nominated here last Saturday at the state GOP convention.

The delegate allotment for the meeting totals 2,803. The number was apportioned among the state's 355 magisterial districts on the basis of Democratic votes cast in the 1960 election.

Filibuster

prospect—the debate would come to an end after 100 hours.

Long said opponents of the measure had agreed at a strategy meeting "to debate the bill for a while and see where we stand."

Just before the close of Friday's nothing - accomplished Senate session, Mansfield said he might file a cloture petition this morning. He said the Republican leadership was behind him.

If such a petition is filed, it would be voted on one hour after the Senate meets Tuesday morning. Two-thirds of the senators voting then would have to approve before the strict limitation on further debate could be imposed.

This gag rule has not been used since 1927, largely because senators are reluctant to curb their speech-making prerogatives.

Long and his colleagues contend the bill amounts to a giveaway of government-paid research to private interests.

The bill would set up a special private corporation, half its stock owned by the general public and half by communications companies, to operate the U.S. part of a proposed global satellite communications system.

Most of the opponents favor a government - owned corporation with private operation of the satellite system under government contract.

had approved programming of construction of the 8,500-foot project conditioned upon approval of plans to be submitted by the city.

In mid-June, the highway department asked the city to proceed "as quickly as possible" with completion of detailed plans, indicating the project may be ready to call for contractors' bids in October.

The detailed plans are being prepared by Glaus, Pyle & Schomer, Youngstown engineering firm, retained by the city nearly a year ago.

The Bureau of Public Roads approved the addition of St. Clair to the federal aid secondary system of highways about a year ago, guaranteeing the U. S. will pay 50 per cent of the cost.

The question of how the city's share will be financed still must be decided by Council.

Additional enabling legislation also will be required before the project becomes a reality. Negotiations for the St. Clair improvement have been under way for about two and a half years.

County Council Meets

American Legion Gives Theme Of Essay Contest

Plans for the annual high school essay contest were announced at the meeting of the Columbiana County Council of the American Legion Friday night at the home of Hanoverton Post 290.

The theme will be "How I Can Help Preserve the American Democracy" and the contest is open to all high school students in the county with the closing date Jan. 7.

Albert Hayes of Columbiana Post 290 presided. James Cregar, second vice commander and member of Post 374 of East Liverpool, reported that over 170 attended the council's picnic Sunday at Copeland Lake. There were games and prizes for children and lunch was served by the council.

Hayes announced that county Legionnaires will visit Massillon State Hospital Oct. 10, providing lunch, candy and cigarettes for about 90 patients and will hold a game and give prizes.

Harman Zeppernich, county Legion Civil Defense chairman, of Post 56 in Salem, will attend the Civil Defense school at Battle Creek, Mich., in September.

John Herman of Salem, co-chairman of Junior Baseball, urged all county posts to sponsor teams next year. He said there should be at least six teams next year.

Road Hearing Set Tuesday

The public hearing to discuss the proposed location of a link in the Lake Erie-to-Ohio River Freeway into Mahoning County will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Dixon Elementary School at Columbiana.

The link is 13.3 miles between Route 558 in Columbiana County and Route 224 east of Canfield in Mahoning County.

The location of the proposed route, which has been designated State Route 11 by the State Highway Department, will be generally east of a previously established alignment covered in a hearing held in January 1959. Change in the alignment has been made after further engineering studies and consultations with local groups.

Design of the proposed route would be similar to interstate standards with four lanes of pavement and an 84-foot wide dividing strip separating opposing pairs of lanes. According to the standards, grade separations would be provided with the majority of intersecting roads and interchanges at designated State and U. S. Routes.

According to Division 11 Deputy Director William P. McKenna, who will conduct the hearing, field work has been completed by the state's consulting engineer for this section. Construction would probably take place in two separate contracts.

Also included in the hearing will be a 0.4-mile relocation of Route 344 where the proposed Freeway crosses about halfway between Leetonia and Columbiana.

The new location for Route 11 leaves the previously described proposal at its intersection with Route 558 in Fairfield Township, and joins the previous location just south of the Ohio Turnpike at Route 224.

State Highway Department officials and representatives of the consulting engineer will be on hand to answer questions following the formal portion of the hearing. An exhibit showing the alignment will be on display.

Hancock GOP Seeks Funds In Solicitation

Launching a fund-raising campaign for opening a new headquarters, the Hancock County Republican Executive Committee is sending letters to various business establishments and organizations in the county, seeking aid for the project.

To call more attention to the project, the letters are accompanied by large, round buttons in red, white and blue colors imprinted with "S. O. B. Club," "Save Our Business Club."

James M. Ravoir of Weirton, chairman of the GOP executive committee, is in charge of the project.

Algerian Rule Cracks Down On Guerrillas

ALGIERS (AP) — The Algerian guerrilla army faced its first real challenge today from the new nation's civilian authorities.

Ahmed Ben Bella's ruling Political Bureau announced Friday night a series of drastic measures to curb the local warlords who have levied their own taxes, requisitioned private property and lived on the land much as they did during the seven-year Algerian war.

The new measures were announced in a radio-television address by Ben Bella's right-hand man, Mohammed Khider.

They were the first directives publicly given to the guerrilla army's six military zones by the civilian authorities since French rule ended July 3.

Until now, it was usually the zones that dictated to the civilian authorities. This system, a heritage of the long underground resistance struggle, was largely responsible for the collapse of local government and the conditions of near-anarchy that have prevailed in the interior for the past five weeks.

This gag rule has not been used since 1927, largely because senators are reluctant to curb their speech-making prerogatives.

Long and his colleagues contend the bill amounts to a giveaway of government-paid research to private interests.

The bill would set up a special private corporation, half its stock owned by the general public and half by communications companies, to operate the U.S. part of a proposed global satellite communications system.

Most of the opponents favor a government - owned corporation with private operation of the satellite system under government contract.

County Council Meets

American Legion Gives Theme Of Essay Contest

Plans for the annual high school essay contest were announced at the meeting of the Columbiana County Council of the American Legion Friday night at the home of Hanoverton Post 290.

The theme will be "How I Can Help Preserve the American Democracy" and the contest is open to all high school students in the county with the closing date Jan. 7.

Albert Hayes of Columbiana Post 290 presided. James Cregar, second vice commander and member of Post 374 of East Liverpool, reported that over 170 attended the council's picnic Sunday at Copeland Lake. There were games and prizes for children and lunch was served by the council.

Hayes announced that county Legionnaires will visit Massillon State Hospital Oct. 10, providing lunch, candy and cigarettes for about 90 patients and will hold a game and give prizes.

Harman Zepernich, county Legion Civil Defense chairman, of Post 56 in Salem, will attend the Civil Defense school at Battle Creek, Mich., in September.

John Herman of Salem, co-chairman of Junior Baseball, urged all county posts to sponsor teams next year. He said there should be at least six teams next year.

Road Hearing Set Tuesday

The public hearing to discuss the proposed location of a link in the Lake Erie-to-Ohio River Freeway into Mahoning County will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Dixon Elementary School at Columbiana.

The link is 13.3 miles between Route 558 in Columbiana County and Route 224 east of Canfield in Mahoning County.

The location of the proposed route, which has been designated State Route 11 by the State Highway Department, will be generally east of a previously established alignment covered in a hearing held in January 1959. Change in the alignment has been made after further engineering studies and consultations with local groups.

Design of the proposed route would be similar to interstate standards with four lanes of pavement and an 84-foot wide dividing strip separating opposing pairs of lanes. According to the standards, grade separations would be provided with the majority of intersecting roads and interchanges at designated State and U. S. Routes.

According to Division 11 Deputy Director William P. McKenna, who will conduct the hearing, field work has been completed by the state's consulting engineer for this section. Construction would probably take place in two separate contracts.

Also included in the hearing will be a 0.4-mile relocation of Route 344 where the proposed Freeway crosses about halfway between Leetonia and Columbiana.

The new location for Route 11 leaves the previously described proposal at its intersection with Route 558 in Fairfield Township, and joins the previous location just south of the Ohio Turnpike at Route 224.

State Highway Department officials and representatives of the consulting engineer will be on hand to answer questions following the formal portion of the hearing. An exhibit showing the alignment will be on display.

Hancock GOP Seeks Funds In Solicitation

Launching a fund-raising campaign for opening a new headquarters, the Hancock County Republican Executive Committee is sending letters to various business establishments and organizations in the county, seeking aid for the project.

To call more attention to the project, the letters are accompanied by large, round buttons in red, white and blue colors imprinted with "S. O. B. Club," "Save Our Business Club."

James M. Ravoira of Weirton, chairman of the GOP executive committee, is in charge of the project.

Algerian Rule Cracks Down On Guerrillas

ALGIERS (AP) — The Algerian guerrilla army faced its first real challenge today from the new nation's civilian authorities.

Ahmed Ben Bella's ruling Political Bureau announced Friday night a series of drastic measures to curb the local warlords who have levied their own taxes, requisitioned private property and lived on the land much as they did during the seven-year Algerian war.

The new measures were announced in a radio-television address by Ben Bella's right-hand man, Mohammed Khider.

They were the first directives publicly given to the guerrilla army's six military zones by the civilian authorities since French rule ended July 3.

Until now, it was usually the zones that dictated to the civilian authorities. This system, a heritage of the long underground resistance struggle, was largely responsible for the collapse of local government and the conditions of near-anarchy that have prevailed in the interior for the past five weeks.

The membership campaign is now under way and the county quota is 2,706.

Out-of-county guests included Robert Richison, Stark County commander, of North Industry; Cliff Tolson, past Stark County commander of East Canton.

Next council meeting will be held at Post 4 in East Liverpool Sept. 14 and Probate Judge Louis Tobin is the scheduled speaker.

Elderly Man Found After Extensive Hunt

LISBON — An extensive hunt for John (Mitty) Clunk ended about 8:30 a. m. today when the 80-year-old resident of the County Home, who had wandered away, was found by two horseback riders about a mile from the home.

Guilford and Lisbon firemen, a sheriff deputy and home officials began hunting him shortly after midnight but were forced to halt by fog at 6 a. m. Several horse riders then joined the search and Clunk was found by Linda Jackson, 14, and Dan Baker, 16, near the point where the home farm and those of John Crowell and Frank Murray meet. Supt. Russell Phillips said Clunk was perfectly dry, had had breakfast but did not know where he had stayed. He has been at the home since 1959.

Toulouse is a town in France.

Herbert Hoover Jr. ribbed his famous father, former President Herbert Hoover, about a remark he said might have been inflationary.

The former president told an audience in his home town that he used to pick potato bugs as a boy in West Branch, Iowa, and sell them for 10 cents a hundred.

"I'm sure it was only a penny," Herbert Jr. said.

The marriage of the professional dance team of Yolanda and Veloz has ended. She obtained a divorce in Los Angeles, saying "He just has left the home and has refused to come back. We argued quite a bit. It was very difficult to live together. We just didn't get along."

As youngsters, Yolanda Casaza, now 50, and Frank N. Veloz, now 60, entered a dance contest and lost in the first round. But they began a serious study of dancing and became a professional stage and nightclub team grossing $25,000 a week.

Veloz told newsmen that they remain good friends. They have four children.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan rounded out a trio of distinguished visitors visiting Sir Winston Churchill and reported he found the veteran statesman "in very good form."

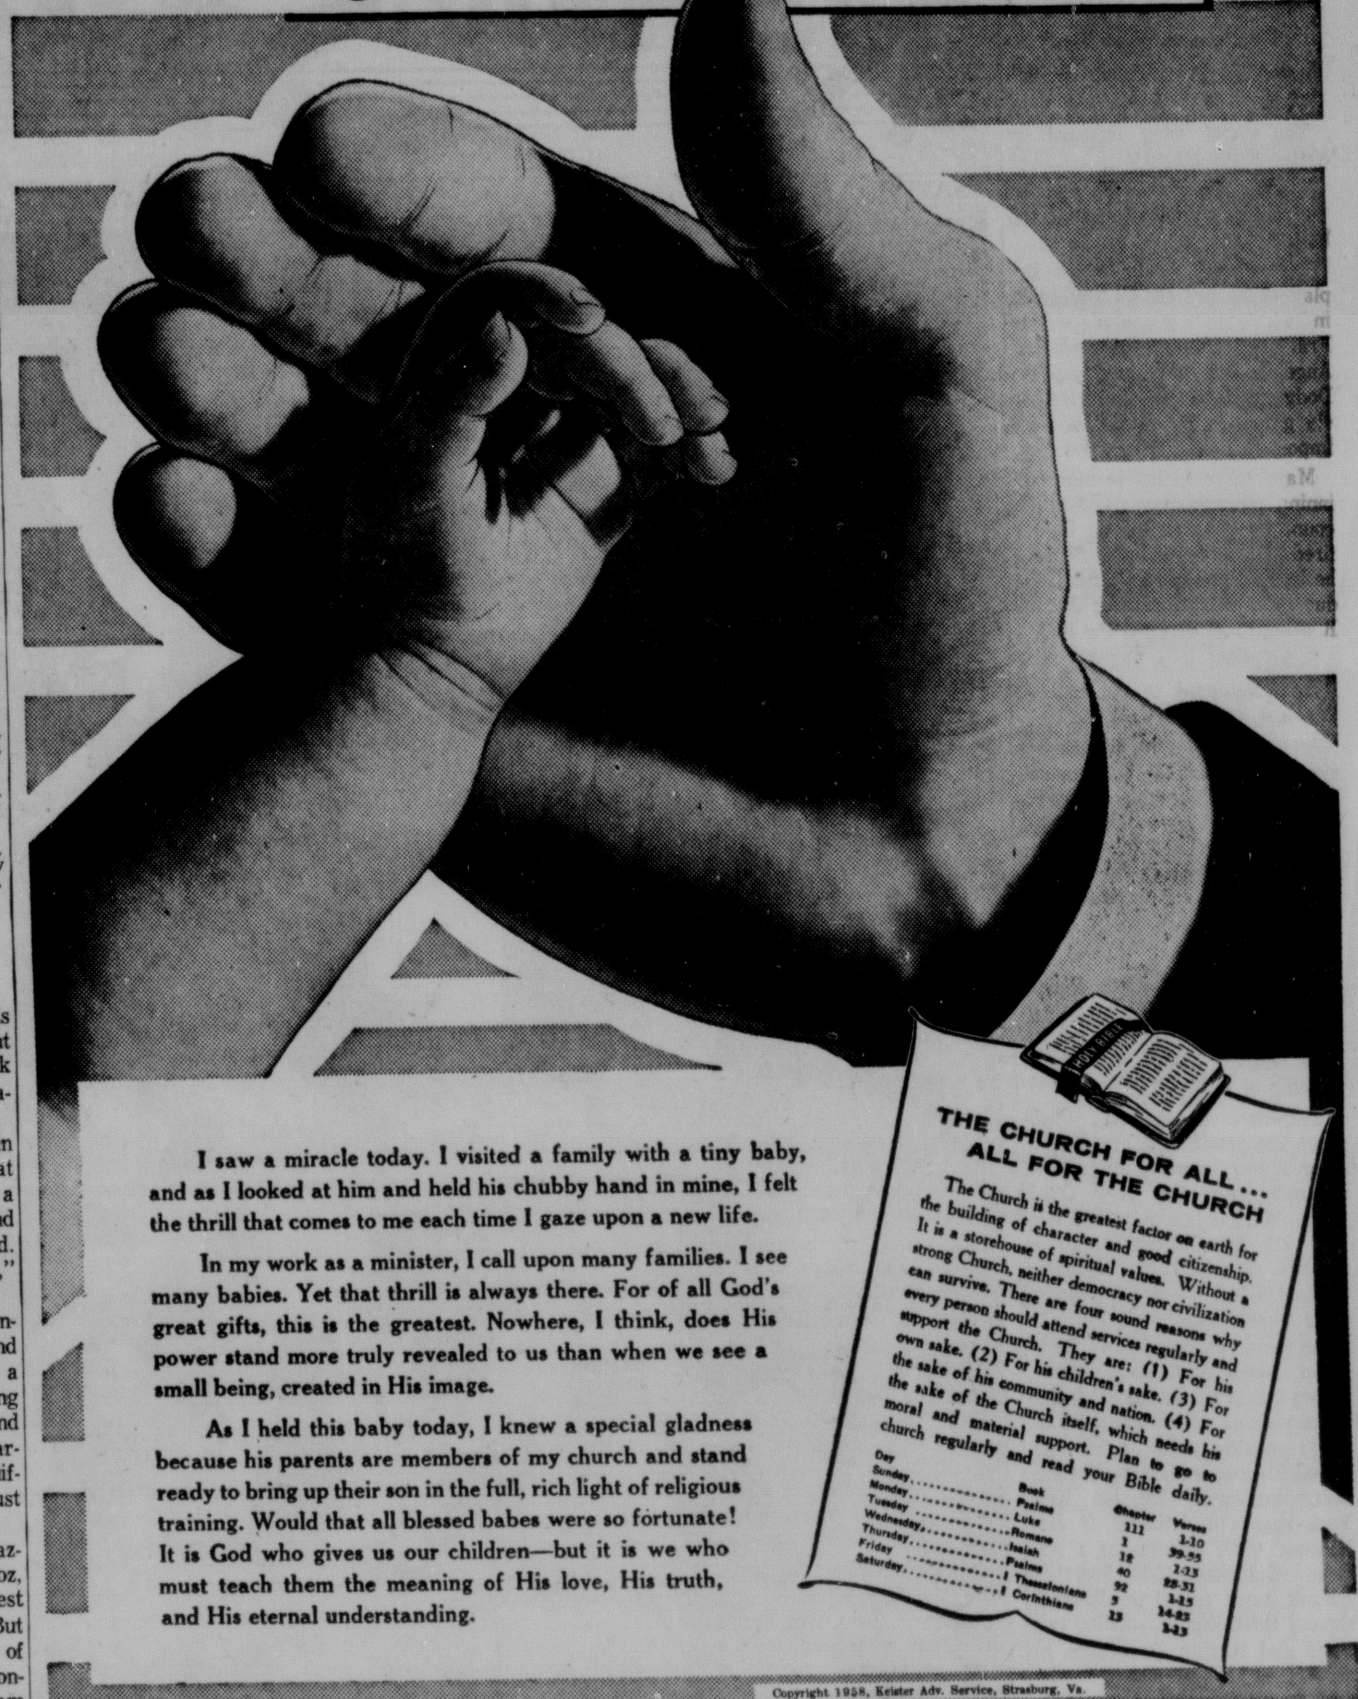

"He was much better than when I last saw him," Macmillan told newsmen after a 35-minute visit Friday night.

Ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Lewis Douglas, former U.S. ambassador in Britain, visited Churchill earlier at Middlesex Hospital, where he is recovering from a broken thigh. All said they found him looking very well.

COLUMBIANA — The denomination's Columbian church was one of 16 admitted into the General Conference of the Mennonite Church at its 36th triennial session at Bethlehem, Pa., Friday.

The renowned sculptor M. Buonarroti was better known as Michelangelo.

God's Greatest Gift

I saw a miracle today. I visited a family with a tiny baby, and as I looked at him and held his chubby hand in mine, I felt the thrill that comes to me each time I gaze upon a new life.

In my work as a minister, I call upon many families. I see many babies. Yet that thrill is always there. For of all God's great gifts, this is the greatest. Nowhere, I think, does His power stand more truly revealed to us than when we see a small being, created in His image.

As I held this baby today, I knew a special gladness because his parents are members of my church and stand ready to bring up their son in the full, rich light of religious training. Would that all blessed babes were so fortunate! It is God who gives us our children—but it is we who must teach them the meaning of His love, His truth, and His eternal understanding.

Giants Trim Dodgers' Lead; Wynn Wins 298th Game

Mays' Double After Foul Tip Starts Rally

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tick!

The sound went unheard by batter Willie Mays.

Bit Umpire Ed Sudol detected the slight collision of bat and ball.

That turned out to be the key play of Friday night's key game in which the second-place San Francisco Giants walloped Los Angeles 11-2 and trimmed the Dodgers' National League lead to 4½ games in the opener of their important three-game series.

Mays came to bat in the sixth inning with the score tied 2-2. The count went to 3-2. Johnny Podres fired, Mays swung—and thinking he had missed started toward the dugout, although catcher Johnny Roseboro had dropped the ball.

Sudol ruled it a foul tip.

Mays returned to the batter's box and stroked a double.

An obviously miffed Podres stomped around at the mound, then came a few steps off to begin a war of words with Sudol. Dodger Coach Leo Durocher hustled out to calm the Dodger left-hander and wound up in an argument with Sudol.

The result:

Durocher was ejected, Podres was bombed. The Giants poured in six runs and went on to the easy triumph behind the five-hit pitching of Billy O'Dell.

Elsewhere in the NL, third-place Cincinnati used Frank Robinson's two homers for an 8-4 triumph over the New York Mets. Warren Spahn got victory No. 321 as Milwaukee edged Houston 7-6. St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs topped Pittsburgh 7-6.

Robinson triggered the Reds' victory over the Mets, hitting homers in the first and fourth while starting a four-run third-inning uprising with a double. Frank Thomas and Marv Throneberry accounted for the New York runs with homers off Jim Maloney (6-4), who hurled a six-hitter. Al Jackson (6-14) lost it.

Hank Aaron paced the Braves, rapping three singles, stealing two bases and scoring three runs in support of Spahn (12-11), who needed relief help from Don Nottebart and Claude Raymond. Nottebart came in when the Colts tagged the 41-year-old Spahn for three runs in the sixth—two on Roman Mejias' 22nd homer. Joe Adcock hit No. 24 for the Braves. The defeat was charged to former Brave George Brunet (0-1).

The Cardinals ran their winning streak to four and extended the Phillies' losing string to eight with a three-run seventh-inning rally that snapped a 3-3 tie. Bobby Shantz (4-2) picked up the victory in relief with Chris Short (5-7) taking the loss.

The Cubs and Pirates lashed out 27 hits before a ninth-inning double by Ken Hubbs and Billy Williams' single sent the winning run across for the Cubs. The Pirates had tied it in the top half of the inning on an error and Roberto Clemente's double—his third hit of the game. Barney Shultz (5-5) won it and ElRoy Face (8-3) was the loser.

Oakland Nips Calvary On 1st Inning Score

Oakland edged Calvary Methodist, 1-0, in a tight pitcher's battle in the YMCA Church Softball League Friday.

Dan Barton of Oakland and Jerry Cannon of Calvary each yielded three hits, and fanned three.

Oakland sent one run across in the first inning on two walks and a double by B. Wagner and held on for the victory.

In another game, Boyce Methodist pounded out a 15-hit attack to defeat Penn. Ave. Methodist, 12-9. The losers got seven hits. Chuck Windle got the mound victory, besting George McCormack.

Leading Boyce were Al Dawson with two homers, a double and single, Guy Silience, with a double and single, and Bob Swogger with two singles. H. Merriman had two doubles and Steff, a homer and single for the losers.

McGuire Signs Again As Coach Of Pistons

DETROIT (AP)—Dick McGuire today signed a new one-year contract to coach the Detroit Pistons in the National Basketball Association.

This will be McGuire's third full season at the reins of the Pistons. He was named player-coach succeeding Red Rocha Dec. 18, 1959.

Packers Rout Dallas, 31-7, In Exhibition

By The Associated Press

Just in case anyone has any ideas of unseating them from their throne, the mighty Green Bay Packers have decided to use some terror tactics.

The Packers, National Football League champions, opened their exhibition season Friday night and crushed the Dallas Cowboys, 31-7, in the Cotton Bowl in muggy 90 degree weather.

Green Bay halfback Paul Hornung kicked a field goal, scored on a five-yard run and chipped in with four points after touchdowns. Elijah Pitts also bucked for one touchdown, while Bart Starr and John Roach each passed for one.

The American Football League exhibition season, which opened last week, continued with the defending champion Houston Oilers trouncing the Denver Broncos, 33-17, at Atlanta.

Veteran George Blanda kicked four field goals and added three conversions for the Oilers. Billy Cannon, who signed a new $100,000 contract earlier this week, greeted the crowd to a dazzling 29-yard touchdown run.

Denver appeared much sharper than last year and held a 14-13 half-time margin mainly through the efforts of Frank Tripucka, whose passes set up the touchdowns.

Riverview Trips Lawyers; Colt Playoff Deadlocked

Capitalizing on eight errors by their opponents, Riverview Florists scored a 9-3 victory over the Lawyers to deadlock the Colt League playoff series Friday at Colt Field.

All square at 2-2 in the best three-of-five series, the two squads will meet for the league championship Sunday afternoon at 1. The deciding league game will be the first part of a doubleheader, with the 15-year-old All-Stars meeting their 16-year-old counterparts at 3.

Bo Agnew and Huddleston hurled undermanned Riverview to the victory, although the Lawyers got a total of 11 hits.

Agnew went six innings for Riverview, yielding one run in the fourth and giving up 10 hits. Huddleston went the final two innings and allowed two runs on one hit.

Dave Williams belted three hits for the winners, and drove in four runs. Agnew and Johnson each drove in a pair.

Tom Stepien started for the Lawyers and gave up six runs in two innings. Morrow followed on the mound for two innings, and Hooker finished the game.

Stewart of the Lawyers collected three hits, and Burke drove in three runs on two hits. Ed Loy of the Lawyers had a double for the game's only extra-bases blow.

Second baseman Hasenstab of the Lawyers speared a line drive heading towards center field in a fine defensive play.

Trophies will be awarded at the conclusion of Sunday's action. Atty. Don Smith, league chairman, said.

Veale Fans 22 But Fails To Get Victory

By The Associated Press

Imagine striking out 22 batters in a nine-inning game and not winning.

That's what happened to left-hander Bob Veale of the Columbus Jets Friday night. He smashed a 32-year-old International League record by striking out 22 Buffalo Bisons in nine innings.

But he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the 10th with the score tied at 5-5. The Jets went on to win, 6-5, in the 12th on Orlando McFarlane's walk and Larry Elliott's double.

It was the second game of a doubleheader. The Bisons won the opener 5-4, on relief pitcher Dick Ricketts' run-producing single in the ninth.

The nightcap victory enabled the Jets to hang on to fourth place, a game ahead of the Bisons.

Richmond snapped a seven-game Toronto winning streak, 5-4, but the Leafs came back to win the nightcap, 8-3.

Giants Trim Dodgers' Lead; Wynn Wins 298th Game

Mays' Double After Foul Tip Starts Rally

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Tick!

The sound went unheard by batter Willie Mays.

Bit umpire Ed Sudol detected the slight collision of bat and ball.

That turned out to be the key play of Friday night's key game in which the second-place San Francisco Giants walloped Los Angeles 11-2 and trimmed the Dodgers' National League lead to 4 1/2 games in the opener of their important three-game series.

Mays came to bat in the sixth inning with the score tied 2-2. The count went to 3-2. Johnny Podres fired, Mays swung—and thinking he had missed started toward the dugout, although catcher Johnny Roseboro had dropped the ball.

Sudol ruled it a foul tip.

Mays returned to the batter's box and stroked a double.

An obviously miffed Podres stomped around at the mound, then came a few steps off to begin a war of words with Sudol.

Dodger Coach Leo Durocher hustled out to calm the Dodger left-hander and wound up in an argument with Sudol.

The result: Durocher was ejected, Podres was bombed. The Giants poured in six runs and went on to the easy triumph behind the five-hit pitching of Billy O'Dell.

Elsewhere in the NL, third-place Cincinnati used Frank Robinson's two homers for an 8-4 triumph over the New York Mets. Warren Spahn got victory No. 321 as Milwaukee edged Houston 7-6. St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs topped Pittsburgh 7-6.

Robinson triggered the Reds' victory over the Mets, hitting homers in the first and fourth while starting a four-run third inning uprising with a double. Frank Thomas and Marv Throneberry accounted for the New York runs with homers off Jim Maloney (6-4), who hurled a six-hitter. Al Jackson (6-14) lost it.

Hank Aaron paced the Braves, rapping three singles, stealing two bases and scoring three runs in support of Spahn (12-11), who needed relief help from Don Nottebart and Claude Raymond. Nottebart came in when the Colts tagged the 41-year-old Spahn for three runs in the sixth—two on Roman Mejias' 22nd homer. Joe Adcock hit No. 24 for the Braves. The defeat was charged to former Brave George Brunet (0-1).

The Cardinals ran their winning streak to four and extended the Phillies' losing string to eight with a three-run seventh inning rally that snapped a 3-3 tie. Bobby Shantz (4-2) picked up the victory in relief with Chris Short (5-7) taking the loss.

The Cubs and Pirates lashed out 27 hits before a ninth inning double by Ken Hubbs and Billy Williams' single sent the winning run across for the Cubs. The Pirates had tied it in the top half of the inning on an error and Roberto Clemente's double—his third hit of the game. Barney Shultz (5-5) won it and ElRoy Face (8-3) was the loser.

Oakland Nips Calvary On 1st Inning Score

Oakland edged Calvary Methodist, 1-0, in a tight pitcher's battle in the YMCA Church Softball League Friday.

Dan Barton of Oakland and Jerry Cannon of Calvary each yielded three hits, and fanned three.

Oakland sent one run across in the first inning on two walks and a double by B. Wagner and held on for the victory.

In another game, Boyce Methodist pounded out a 15-hit attack to defeat Penn. Ave. Methodist, 12-9. The losers got seven hits. Chuck Windle got the mound victory, besting George McCormack.

Leading Boyce were Al Dawson with two homers, a double and single, Guy Silence, with a double and single, and Bob Swogger with two singles. H. Merriman had two doubles and Steff, a homer and single for the losers.

Packers Rout Dallas, 31-7, In Exhibition

By The Associated Press Just in case anyone has any ideas of unseating them from their throne, the mighty Green Bay Packers have decided to use some terror tactics.

The Packers, National Football League champions, opened their exhibition season Friday night and crushed the Dallas Cowboys, 31-7, in the Cotton Bowl in muggy 90 degree weather.

Green Bay halfback Paul Hornung kicked a field goal, scored on a five-yard run and chipped in with four points after touchdowns. Elijah Pitts also bucked for one touchdown, while Bart Starr and John Roach each passed for one.

The American Football League exhibition season, which opened last week, continued with the defending champion Houston Oilers trouncing the Denver Broncos, 33-17, at Atlanta.

Veteran George Blanda kicked four field goals and added three conversions for the Oilers. Billy Cannon, who signed a new $100,000 contract earlier this week, treated the crowd to a dazzling 29-yard touchdown run.

Denver appeared much sharper than last year and held a 14-13 half-time margin mainly through the efforts of Frank Tripucka, whose passes set up the touchdowns.

Speeders Clocked

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — During a convention of justices of the peace, state police decided to demonstrate what they argue are three nearly infallible methods of gauging automobile speeds. Radar, electronic timers and airplane observations were employed simultaneously to measure car speeds on an airport runway. Officials said the three methods agreed within a mile an hour on cars traveling up to 100 miles an hour.

Early Defeats Kansas City In 3-1 Battle

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

Old Early Wynn made his major league debut when hamburgers were a nickel, someone named Mysterious Al Hostak was the middleweight champion, and "Gone With the Wind" was winning Academy Awards.

The five-cent hamburger is, of course, a thing of the past. Mysterious Al is long since retired. But Rhett Butler, 42, Scarlett O'Hara and tough old Early still are kicking around.

The Chicago White Sox right-hander, who first appeared in the majors in 1939, moved to within two giant steps of the principal milestone of his major-league career Friday night, beating the Kansas City Athletics 3-1.

The victory was his 298th, placing him within two of the charmed 300 circle, which has been reached only 13 times. It gave Wynn, sometimes called Old Gus, a 6-8 record for the year and represented his third try at gaining No. 298.

The New York Yankees bombed him in one outing, and he was the victim of a 1-0 no-hit performance by Boston's Bill Monbouquette in the other. This one didn't come easy, either. Baseball's senior performer had to have help from Dean Stone in the eighth when he apparently tired.

In the other American League games, the leading Yankees bombed Detroit 8-0, the Los Angeles Angels remained five games back on the strength of Dean Chance's five-hit pitching and Leon Wagner's 11th inning single which edged Minnesota 1-0, and Pete Ramos and Cleveland shut out Washington 3-0. Baltimore at Boston was postponed by rain.

In the National League, second-place San Francisco walloped the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers 11-2. Cincinnati belted the New York Mets 8-4. St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 7-4. Milwaukee edged Houston 7-4, and the Chicago Cubs nipped Pittsburgh 7-6.

Bobby Richardson and Bill Skowron led New York's 15-hit assault on Paul Foytack and three other Detroit pitchers. Richardson had a two-run homer and two singles, while Skowron contributed two doubles and a single. Whitey Ford (12-5) got credit for the victory but retired in favor of Marshall Bridges when the Tigers threatened in the eighth.

Chance (10-6) a rookie right-hander for the Angels, struck out seven, walked only three and let Minnesota get only one man past second as the Angels took sole possession of second. Twin lefty Jim Kaat (12-10), who shut out Los Angeles twice this season, had a three-hit shutout going into the 11th when Steven Bilko got an infield hit with one out. Jim Fregosi went in to run for him and took third on a single by Bob Rodgers. Wagner's single broke it up.

Ramos (5-9) struck out six and walked only one in his six-hit effort for the Indians against Washington.

Southern All-Stars Win As North's Rally Falls Short

Wild Finish Marks 18-12 Tilt At Canton

Associated Press Sports Writer CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The Southern All-Stars owned an 18-12 victory over the North today in the 17th annual Ohio High School All-Star grid game, but the consensus was the Rebels were just a bit lucky.

Newell High Gridders To Receive Physicals

Physical examinations for prospective Newell High gridders will be given Monday at the high school. Practice will begin Wednesday.

and halfback Tom Barrington of Lima, the downstaters piled up an 18-6 edge. Then, with less than four minutes to play, came one of the wildest finishes the school-boy classic has ever witnessed. The crippled Northerners almost pulled it out of the fire.

The speedy Yankees, thwarted through the first three quarters by the heavier Southerners and with their passing attack a futile weapon, caught fire in the closing minutes. They held possession of the ball the entire final 12 minutes.

Staying on the ground for 16 straight plays, the Yanks rammed their way 80 yards for a touchdown with quarterback Larry Mackey of Akron St. Vincent climaxing the drive with a one-yard scoring plunge.

With 3½ minutes to go and six points behind, the Yanks tried an onside kick off, almost hit the jackpot.

With 10,000 fans screaming, the Yanks battled their way to the two-yard line, but the clock ran out and the South had its second straight conquest.

The South went 67 yards in seven plays for its first touchdown with fullback Larry Duck of Martins Ferry scoring from the 2 after Stavroff hit Barrington with a 52-yard pass.

A punt fumble by the South's Dave Gillis of Middletown was recovered on the South's 16 by Glenn Hill of Alliance and Hill tied the score at 6-all five plays later with a six-yard plunge.

The aroused Southerners, with Duck going 46 yards on a trap play, struck right back. Stavroff pitched 10 yards to Lancaster Fenwick's Bill Joos for the score which wrapped up a 62-yard, five-play drive.

All three of those touchdowns came in the opening quarter and the Rebels moved out front 18-6 in the second period as Stavroff passed nine yards to John Palmer of Kettering Fairmont. John McCluskey of Middletown had gone 38 yards in two plays just before the payoff pitch.

Late in the half Stavroff intercepted a pass on his own 6-yard line to halt a North threat.

The series now stands at eight victories for the North, seven for the South and two ties.

Bob Wion of Martins Ferry, the tobacco-chewing, guitar-playing, 34-year-old head coach of the Southerners, said he aged 10 years and chewed up a whole pack of tobacco in the closing four minutes.

The North was hampered by the loss of several standouts. Ray Mathews of Akron Garfield, a top-flight back, did not get in at all because of a pregame injury and quarterback Lou Harris of Canton McKinley was sidelined by a high temperature.

Rick Sygar, the state's No. 1 back from Niles McKinley's champions, appeared only in the first half. While he was in the game he gained 16 yards in four tries and completed his only pass, a 29-yarder to Hill.

Duck was the leading ground-gainer, picking up 67 yards in six tries for the South. Barrington had 16 for six tries and caught two passes for 71. Mackey led the Northerners with 46 yards in 11 tries, with Joe Potko of Shaker Heights close behind with 41 in nine attempts.

The North had 15 first downs to the South's 7 and outgained the Rebels 285 yards to 273.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Herman Fletcher, retired carpenter, still enjoys working with tools, even though he is 90 years old and blind.

He uses power tools expertly in a shop at his home, with memory and markings as guides.

When his finger touches a hole in the worktable three inches short of the whirling blade of a buzz saw, he stops.

"It's a funny thing," he says, "before I lost my sight (from trachoma six years ago) I was everlastingly sawing or banging my finger tips."

"Now I never do."

ARNOLD PALMER waits anxiously, but his bid for a birdie putt of 30 feet on the third hole just missed. Palmer fired a one-under par 69 in the second round of the American Golf Classic at Akron to take a 5-stroke lead over runner-up Don January. (UPI Telephoto)

Palmer Leads By Five In Tournament At Akron

By JOE MOOSHIL Associated Press Sports Writer AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer apparently has only Arnold Palmer to fear in his bid for the top prize in the American Golf Classic, which enters the third round today.

The powerful Pennsylvanian, threatening to make the $50,000 tournament a one-man show, charged out in front of the field by five strokes Friday with a magnificent 67-69-136 after 36 holes of the 72-hole tournament.

Palmer, who usually charges from behind to overwhelm his opponents, might get careless because of his commanding lead. This appears to be the only thing to prevent him from winning his eighth tournament this year and surpassing his own earnings record in one year.

Palmer has earned $71,198 this year and either first place money of $9,000 or the second prize of $4,600 would put him behind his 1960 earnings of $75,262.

Palmer's 34-35-69 Friday included some of the best golf he has ever played two birdies and five pars in the first holes. Palmer thought he played better Friday than he did the first round when he had a 36-51-67.

Well behind Palmer and in second place was Don January, who had a 34-36-70 after a first round 71 Thursday.

The Firestone course's massive 7,165 yards so far has proved to be too much for the rest of the field, including U.S. Open Champion Jack Nicklaus and PGA titlist Gary Player. Nicklaus started out with a 72 and then had a 34-36-70 after beginning with two birdies on his first three holes.

Player, who had a 71 Thursday, went out in 37 Friday and then closed with a 34, although he bogeyed the 18th hole.

Palmer is the only one to put together two sub-par rounds. Jim Ferrier, George Bayer and Mike Souchak all opened with 69s. But Bayer and Souchak had 74s in the second round and Ferrier had a 76.

Matching Palmer's 69 Friday were Billy Maxwell, Bob Goalby and Dow Finsterwald. Goalby moved into a tie with Nicklaus, Player, Dave Ragan and Jackie Cupit at 142, Maxwell was bracketed at 143 and Finsterwald was among those with 145 totals.

Columbiana Golfer Bows In Final Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Put down Tom Weiskopf's name as a kid who is going to make it big in golf and some day.

The 19-year-old Ohio State University junior from Bedford, who can belt a ball as far as the best of them, picked up another cup for his trophy room Friday.

Weiskopf, a 6-foot-3 blond, successfully defended his Ohio Public Links golf championship with a 72-hole total of 292.

He thus became only the third man in the 30-year history of the event to cop back-to-back crowns.

Weiskopf, who also holds the Ohio Intercollegiate title, needed a come-from-behind finish to capture this year's competition by five strokes.

Three strokes back of Marion Heck of Columbiana after 54 holes, Weiskopf toured the par 72 Oakhurst County Club's 6,685-yard layout in 70 shots to breeze home.

Heck, 22-year-old bachelor cook, saw his game collapse in the final round of the 36-hole marathon session as did most of the challengers in the field of 60 qualifiers.

The turning point came on the 185-yard, par 3 No. 6 hole when Heck took a double-bogey 5. That gave Weiskopf the lead he needed and he turned a three-stroke deficit into a two-stroke advantage with only nine holes to play.

Heck finished with a 39-39-78 while Weiskopf came home in 34-36-70—despite a triple-bogey six on the 165-yard No. 14.

Merchants Bow By 4-0

In one of their few losses this season, East Liverpool Merchants bowed to Columbiana Merchants, 4-0, in the opening game of the City-County League Playoff Friday at Negley.

Sloan of Columbiana blanked Manager John Anderson's locals in twirling a five-hitter.

The Columbiana hurler walked five and struck out five in going the distance. He bested veteran Dick Chamberlain of East Liverpool.

Chamberlain, a right hander, fanned six, walked one, and yielded eight hits.

Ensinger led the locals with two hits, one a double. Justice, Murphy and Culp had two hits each for the winners. Murphy showed a single and double in four trips.

East Liverpool returns to play-off action Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at East Palestine. Should the locals defeat East Palestine, they will play another game immediately.

Two Key Decisions Face Ohio's Football Coaches

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Should Ohio's high school football coaches be determined by playoffs and what method should be used?

Should the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association join the National Federation, a move it has opposed in years past?

These are a couple of important decisions soon to be made by members of the state grid mentors' group.

At a meeting of directors here Friday, Glenn Ellison of Middletown, association president, named three men to formulate a playoff plan and present it to the full membership next December in Columbus. Working on the project will be Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon, Leo Strang of Massillon and Marv Morehead of Upper Arlington.

For a number of years the winner of the Associated Press poll has been rated state champion and received the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy, emblematic of the title.

Affiliation with the National Federation will be put to a referendum. If the coaches approve, the State Board of Control also must give an okay. The Ohio High School Athletic Association, governed by principals, favors affiliation.

By joining the federation the coaches would simplify things for those teams which are near state borders and regularly play Pennsylvania, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia or Michigan squads. As it is now, they play these games under the home team's rules, which are uniform for all the border states because they are in the National High School Federation.

Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas are the only states outside the national organization and operate under a combination of collegiate, professional and federation rules.

Affiliation would mean some drastic changes in the Ohio high school playing rules. Federation rules permit defensive teams to run a fumble, allow punts to be downed inside the 10-yard line, bar running kicks from the end zone, and limit conversions to one point whether on run, pass or kick.

Southern All-Stars Win As North's Rally Falls Short

Wild Finish Marks 18-12 Tilt At Canton

Associated Press Sports Writer
CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The Southern All-Stars owned an 18-12 victory over the North today in the 17th annual Ohio High School All-Star grid game, but the consensus was the Rebels were just a bit lucky.

Sparked by quarterback Frank Stavroff of Columbus Eastmoor

Newell High Gridders To Receive Physicals

Physical examinations for prospective Newell High gridders will be given Monday at the high school. Practice will begin Wednesday.

and halfback Tom Barrington of Lima, the downstaters piled up an 18-6 edge. Then, with less than four minutes to play, came one of the wildest finishes the school-boy classic has ever witnessed. The crippled Northerners almost pulled it out of the fire.

The speedy Yankees, thwarted through the first three quarters by the heavier Southerners and with their passing attack a futile weapon, caught fire in the closing minutes. They held possession of the ball the entire final 12 minutes.

Staying on the ground for 16 straight plays, the Yanks rammed their way 80 yards for a touchdown with quarterback Larry Mackey of Akron St. Vincent climaxing the drive with a one-yard scoring plunge.

With 3½ minutes to go and six points behind, the Yanks tried an onside kickoff, recovered on their own 47 and almost hit the jackpot.

With 10,000 fans screaming, the Yanks battled their way to the two-yard line, but the clock ran out and the South had its second straight conquest.

The South went 67 yards in seven plays for its first touchdown with fullback Larry Duck of Martins Ferry scoring from the 2 after Stavroff hit Barrington with a 32-yard pass.

A punt fumble by the South's Dave Gillis of Middletown was recovered on the South's 16 by Glenn Hill of Alliance and Hill tied the score at 6-all five plays later with a six-yard plunge.

The aroused Southerners, with Duck going 46 yards on a trap play, struck right back. Stavroff pitched 10 yards to Lancaster Fenwick's Bill Joos for the score which wrapped up a 62-yard, five-play drive.

All three of those touchdowns came in the opening quarter and the Rebels moved out from 18-6 in the second period as Stavroff passed nine yards to John Palmer of Kettering Fairmont. John McCluskey of Middletown had gone 38 yards in two plays just before the payoff pitch.

Late in the half Stavroff intercepted a pass on his own 6-yard line to halt a North threat.

The series now stands at eight victories for the North, seven for the South and two ties.

Bob Wion of Martins Ferry, the tobacco-chewing, guitar-playing, 34-year-old head coach of the Southerners, said he aged 10 years and chewed up a whole pack of tobacco in the closing four minutes.

The North was hampered by the loss of several standouts. Ray Mathews of Akron Garfield, a top-flight back, did not get in at all because of a pregame injury and quarterback Lou Harris of Canton McKinley was sidelined by a high temperature.

Rick Sygar, the state's No. 1 back from Niles McKinley's champions, appeared only in the first half. While he was in the game he gained 16 yards in four tries and completed his only pass, a 29-yarder to Hill.

Duck was the leading ground-gainer, picking up 67 yards in six tries for the South. Barrington had 16 for six tries and caught two passes for 71. Mackey led the Northerners with 46 yards in 11 tries, with Joe Potko of Shaker Heights close behind with 41 in nine attempts.

The North had 15 first downs to the South's 7 and outgained the Rebels 285 yards to 273.

Browns Meet Lions Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The "new" Milt Plum knows all eyes will be on him and the other players involved in the trade between the Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns in their exhibition game here tonight.

But the ex-Cleveland quarterback feels it's a little soon to judge who got the best of the deal.

"I don't think anybody will be able to come to conclusions about the trade on the basis of one game," Plum said.

Plum, battling Earl Morrall for the quarterback job with the Lions, will start tonight. Dave Lloyd, also with the Browns last season, will start at the middle linebacker for Detroit. Tom Watkins, who came to the Lions in the deal, is playing behind Danny Lewis.

The Browns will start two of the players they got in the trade—quarterback Jim Ninowski and defensive end Bill Glass. The third player who came to Cleveland in the deal, Hopalong Cassidy, may see action only on punt returns.

The Lions have an over-all record of 20 victories, 6 losses and a tie against the Browns, including exhibitions.

Columbiana Golfer Bows In Final Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Put down Tom Weiskopf's name as a kid who is going to make it big in golfland some day.

The 19-year-old Ohio State University junior from Bedford, who can belt a ball as far as the best of them, picked up another cup for his trophy room Friday.

Weiskopf, a 6-foot-3 blond, successfully defended his Ohio Public Links golf championship with a 72-hole total of 292.

He thus became only the third man in the 30-year history of the event to cop back-to-back crowns.

Weiskopf, who also holds the Ohio Intercollegiate title, needed a come-from-behind finish to capture this year's competition by five strokes.

Three strokes back of Marion Heck of Columbiana after 34 holes, Weiskopf toured the par 72 Oakhurst County Club's 6,685-yard layout in 70 shots to breeze home.

Heck, 22-year-old bachelor cook, saw his game collapse in the final round of the 36-hole marathon session as did most of the challengers in the field of 60 qualifiers.

The turning point came on the 185-yard, par 3 No. 6 hole when Heck took a double-bogey 5. That gave Weiskopf the lead he needed and he turned a three-stroke deficit into a two-stroke advantage with only nine holes to play.

Heck finished with a 39-39—78 while Weiskopf came home in 34-36—70—despite a triple-bogey six on the 165-yard No. 14.

Drill Squad Due Trip To St. Paul

Members of the drill squad of Wellsville VFW Post 9285 were scheduled to leave this afternoon at 5 for St. Paul, Minn., to participate in the national competition.

The contest will be held Monday morning at 9 at the University of Minnesota.

The squad originally planned to leave Sunday, believing the competition was Tuesday but a letter of the change of dates was received Friday.

Kenneth Carter, president, said the 14-man squad will travel by private car. He said the squad, which holds the Ohio championship, is being sponsored by private contributions, proceeds from a Tag Day, prize money from parades and from the members' donations.

A donation was received Friday night from the Toronto American Legion, he said. The team is expected to return Wednesday or Thursday.

Rose Sparkles Over Youngsters

By ROBERT L. SHAFFER
Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio (AP)—Murray Rose, a self-styled "old man" of the swimming world, continues his personal vendetta against the youngsters today after a sparkling opening day victory in the AAU national men's outdoor swimming championships.

"We showed them the old timers can do it sometimes—with a little bit of luck," said the 23-year-old Australian, climbing out of the pool after whipping 17-year-old Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., in the 400-meter freestyle Friday.

Rose lost to Saari in three events at the National Indoor meet at Bartlesville, Okla., last spring.

Rose said he had been working hard since finishing work at the University of Southern California and is down near the 174-pound weight at which he swam in the Olympics at Melbourne in 1956. He carried off three gold medals that year. He was in top form Friday as he was clocked in 4:17.2, and finished five meters ahead of 16-year-old Don Schollander of the Santa Clara (Calif.) Swim Club. Saari was fourth at 4:24.4.

John Konrads, another Aussie, who holds the world record of 4:15.9 for the event, failed to qualify for the finals.

Motorist Denies Cycling Mishap

A Maine Blvd. resident told police Friday he was en route home Thursday night at the time a young cyclist was injured when he fell into a ditch but denied forcing the youth off the road.

Albert D. Clark, 1610 Maine Blvd., phoned police at 6:45 p.m. yesterday after reading in The Review an account of the mishap in which 12-year-old John C. Popp, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Popp, 1100 Vine St., claimed he was crowded off the street by a passing motorist.

Clark told Acting Lt. C. E. (Bill) Tice he was driving north in a bronze-colored compact when he saw several cyclists headed south. The motorist said he halted and then glanced back after the youths had passed and noticed one had gone into a ditch.

The youngster got up and picked up his bike so Clark continued to his home, Acting Lt. Tice was told.

Young Popp required surgery to reset a dislocated right elbow and is in "fair" condition today.

Dodgers Still Cry 'Foul' Along With The Umpire

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Umpire Ed Sudol's decision on a little foul was just that, say the Los Angeles Dodgers, a little foul.

Sudol's ruling was that the bat of San Francisco's Willie Mays made the smallest of contact with a ball pitched by Johnny Podres. But it had the biggest of effects Friday night as Billy O'Dell throttled the Dodgers 11-2 and put the second place Giants within 4 1/2 games of the National League leaders.

Their head-to-head clash continued today with the Giants' Billy Pierce (10-3) facing Don Drysdale (21-4) and concludes Sunday with Juan Marichal (14-8) tangling with Stan Williams (11-7).

The turning point Friday night came with one out in the bottom of the sixth and the score tied 2-2.

The count was 3-2 on Mays when he swung at a Podres offering. Almost simultaneously, Willie started for the dugout, Dodger catcher John Roseboro dropped the ball and Sudol ruled "foul tips."

"Don't ask me what happened," said Willie later. "I know something hit the ball, I heard something. But I thought Roseboro caught it for strike three."

"I don't know how much Willie missed it by," said Roseboro, who was close-mouthed about the incident after the game but had been notably open-mouthed about it to Sudol on the field.

Podres knew what happened, he thought. "The ball was high, it wasn't even a strike. But Mays swung at it and missed it. If he had tipped it, the way he swings it would have gone over Roseboro's head."

Manager Alvin Dark vowed the Giants in the dugout heard the tip. Dodger Boss Walt Alston said no one on his bench heard it. "The wind blows in the wrong direction," he shrugged.

The comments might have all been superfluous except that Mays clouted Podres' next pitch for a double to left, that started the Giants on a 6-run inning. It also brought Alston and Coach Leo Durocher steaming to the scene for an argument retroactive to the tip. All it gained was an early shower for Durocher.

Officers said the animal was killed when it ran into the path of a car driven by Donald W. Davidson, 49, of Salem R.D. 1 on Route 9 about two and a half miles south of Salem Friday mid-night.

In another one-car mishap Hazel P. Krijanowski of Pontiac, Mich., escaped injury when her east-bound car overturned on Old Route 14 near the intersection with Route 14 east of Columbiana at 5:50 p.m.

Rose Sparkles Over Youngsters

By ROBERT L. SHAFFER
CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—Murray Rose, a self-styled "old man" of the swimming world, continues his personal vendetta against the youngsters today after a sparkling opening day victory in the AAU national men's outdoor swimming championships.

"We showed them the old timers can do it sometimes—with a little bit of luck," said the 23-year-old Australian, climbing out of the pool after whipping 17-year-old Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., in the 400-meter freestyle Friday.

Rose lost to Saari in three events at the National Indoor meet at Bartlesville, Okla., last spring. Rose said he had been working hard since finishing work at the University of Southern California and is down near the 174-pound weight at which he swam in the Olympics at Melbourne in 1956. He carried off three gold medals that year. He was in top form Friday as he was clocked in 4:17.2, and finished five meters ahead of 16-year-old Don Schollander of the Santa Clara (Calif.) Swim Club. Saari was fourth at 4:24.4.

John Konrads, another Aussie, who holds the world record of 4:15.9 for the event, failed to qualify for the finals.

Rose has Saari and Konrads for competition today in the 200-meter freestyle, one of the last events on the three-day program. Schollander also is entered in the 200-meter freestyle.

Cow Is Killed On Highway

A cow was killed in one of three traffic accidents investigated Friday by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Officers said the animal was killed when it ran into the path of a car driven by Donald W. Davidson, 49, of Salem R.D. 1 on Route 9 about two and a half miles south of Salem Friday midnight.

The right fender and headlight of the vehicle were damaged. The cow was owned by William Berger of Salem R.D.

Alten Messenger, 46, of Lisbon R.D. 1 was cited for driving left of center after his car ran off Township Rd. 756 three miles south of Route 30 at 6 a.m. yesterday. Messenger failed to negotiate a curve. His car hit an embankment after leaving the roadway, officers said.

In another one-car mishap Hazel P. Krijanowski of Pontiac, Mich., escaped injury when her east-bound car overturned on Old Route 14 near the intersection with Route 14 east of Columbiana at 5:50 p.m.

The woman failed to make a sharp curve, officers said. She was cited for reckless operation.

It's Still Hot In Southwest

By The Associated Press
A sweltering heat wave continued under cloudless skies today in the arid Southwest and Southern Plains area stretching from Texas to the Arizona-California border.

Temperatures topped the 100-degree mark throughout the area Friday, and no relief appeared to be in sight.

Beaumont, Tex., recorded a record-breaking 106 degrees for the third day in a row. Austin, Tex., endured its 42nd straight day without rain.

Parts of California also were baked by the oppressive heat. El Centro, in the Imperial Valley, registered 114 Friday, its 55th day in a row with a 100 plus reading.

Unseasonably cool weather covered wide areas of the North, dropping readings into the 50s and 60s and triggering thunderstorms and heavy rains.

Fargo and Jamestown, N.D., were soaked by more than 1½ inches of rain in the six-hour period ending at midnight. The weather bureau said several tornadoes were sighted in eastern North Dakota.

Milwaukee reported a 50-degree reading at midnight, equaling a low set in 1884. Drummond, Mont., had a reading of 48 at midnight.

Light rain continued in parts of the Northeast, parched by weeks of drought. Hard-hitting thunderstorms pelted some areas Thursday and Friday but agricultural officials in most cases felt it was too little and too late for this year's crops.

New York City had a record low for Aug. 11, as the thermometer registered 56 early today. Pittsburgh had a record low of 50 degrees and Philadelphia one of 56.

Beaver Sets Voter Signup

Voter field registrations in Beaver County will begin Aug. 27 with that for the Midland area set for Sept. 7 at the Midland Borough Building. The Midland area includes Industry, Ohioville and Glasgow residents.

Registration will be held Aug. 28 at the Monaca Borough Building and include Shippingport Borough, Potter Township and Monaca residents.

Registration will also be held Aug. 28 at the school on Center Grange Rd. for Shippingport, Racoon and Greene Township and at Center Township.

Frankfort Springs residents may register Sept. 4 at the Grange Hall at Frisco.

The office of James B. Keefe, director of the voter registration, said a date will be announced for a registration at Tiderman's Garage at Routes 18 and 30 for Hookstown and other area residents.

Those who need to register may also sign at the office at the Beaver County Courthouse at Beaver. The last day to register will be Sept. 17 and the office at Beaver will be open that day from 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m.

The last day for voters to transfer from one district to another is Sept. 7. Those moving prior to Sept. 7 can return to their old districts and vote.

Hours for the field registrations will be 1 to 9 p. m.

Ted Husing, 60, Dies At Rest Home In West

154 wywfu v 127 eg11
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ted Husing, a former carnival Barker who became one of radio's most colorful and articulate sportscasters, is dead at 60.

Bedridden for two years, he succumbed Friday in a rest home. He was nearly blind.

He came here five years ago to recuperate from brain surgery. Instead, said a friend, "He just seemed to fade away." The cause of death was not immediately determined.

Erudite and golden-voiced, Husing helped picture the sports world of the 1920s and 30s—an era that included names like Knute Rockne and Jack Dempsey.

He was famed for his crisp, vivid descriptions of football games, Kentucky Derbies, golf tournaments and championship fights. But of all sports, he said he liked football best. He helped found the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

He was born in the Bronx, N.Y. In 1924 he entered a radio station audition for a sportscaster and won over 1,600 other men.

For a while he was a $250,000 a year radio disc jockey. He ended his career in 1946.

Autoist Cited After Car Hits Post Office

A Hammondville driver was cited after his car went through an intersection, struck a large stone, and came to rest against the Hammondville Post Office building at 2:10 a. m. today, the Wintersville State Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said George V. Crowe, 27, was traveling south on County Rd. 50 and was unable to halt for a traffic sign at the junction with Route 213.

There was considerable damage to the car, but only minor damage to the building, officers said.

Crowe was cited on a charge of driving at a speed in excess of road conditions and is scheduled for a hearing Aug. 18 before Jefferson County Judge Helen M. Huntsman of Toronto. He escaped unhurt, officers added.

Cleveland, Railroad To Discuss Acreage

CLEVELAND (AP) — The city of Cleveland will consider soon whether to negotiate with the Pennsylvania Railroad for purchase of 13½ acres of lakefront property for future port development.

Port Director William J. Rogers said preliminary talks with railroad officials have indicated their willingness to discuss sale of the tract.

The property lies east of the Cuyahoga River and west of Cleveland Stadium. Price might run $1 million, but providing landfill, bulkheading, roads and utilities to make the site usable would cost an estimated $4.5 million more, Rogers said.

TED HUSING
Was Noted Sportscaster.

In 1954, Husing was stricken with a brain tumor. He came to California in hopes of recovering his health after a series of operations.

Street Added For Slagging

Another street was added to the summer improvement program by the Liverpool Township Trustees at a meeting Friday night at City Hall.

Approved was Elson Ave. in Maplewood. It will be covered with an asphalt emulsion and slagged.

A letter was received from Auditor Kenneth Bell, informing the trustees a hearing will be held on the 1963 budget Tuesday, Aug. 21, at the Courthouse at Lisbon.

A letter also was received from the Board of Elections informing the trustees a 1.3-mill fire levy has been granted a ballot position for Nov. 6. The levy is a renewal and will be for the years 1963 through 1967.

Simon C. Hall, clerk, was authorized to send a letter of appreciation to Columbiana County commissioners for their aid in the summer road program.

Hall also was authorized to purchase 100 gallons of center-line paint for township roads.

A group of Valley Ave. residents again asked that their street be opened. The trustees requested the property owners to sign a legal petition stating exactly what they want and exactly where the road begins and ends.

Lighting

lumens for the present street lights, a boost of 700 per cent, the committee said.

The streets on which the new lights would be installed would include 6th St. from 150 feet west of Peach Alley to Washington St., 5th St. from Peach Alley to Cherry Alley, 4th St. from Market St. to Cherry Alley and on Market and Washington Sts. between 4th and 6th Sts.

Under the plan, the city would certify the special assessment to the county auditor for collection on the real estate tax duplicate. The petition stipulates the rate to property owners will not exceed $1.68 per year per front foot, the committee explained.

It probably will require about six months after the petition is approved and a contract signed for the new lighting system to be completed.

The committee which worked to secure the signatures of the property owners included Don Eckert, W. Leland Thompson and Edwin Maloney besides Finley.

Kobuta Injunction Hearing To Be Reset

BEAVER FALLS — An injunction hearing set Monday in the strike at the Koppers Co.'s Kobuta plant apparently will be delayed pending results of negotiations expected to continue through the weekend at Washington.

The hearing had been set for yesterday and postponed to Monday. The company seeks to halt mass picketing by members of Local 8-74, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, which began midnight Aug. 2.

About 615 workers have been on strike at the plant since a contract expired midnight April 30.

Negotiations began in Washington Thursday with company and union representatives meeting with the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Costa Rica was the first Latin American country to declare war on the Axis Powers after Pearl Harbor. The country declared war on Japan on Dec. 8, 1941, and on Germany on Dec. 11.

U.S. Approval Due For Peru

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is ready to give its diplomatic stamp of approval to the military junta now ruling Peru, informed sources said today.

American recognition will be forthcoming soon, probably next week, they said.

After the group of Peruvian officers overthrew the elected government July 18, the United States swiftly suspended diplomatic relations and cut off economic and military aid.

The decision to recognize the junta as the government of Peru apparently was based on the junta's promises to return to democratic processes as soon as possible and to maintain civil liberties and a pro-democratic, anti-Communist government.

The United States is expected to act after more of the key Latin American nations have extended recognition. This follows tradition. Haiti, Argentina and Mexico were the first to recognize the junta.

Peru's pledges to the Organization of American States (OAS) last Wednesday strengthened the new government's position among hemispheric nations and was a big factor in the U.S. decision, sources said.

The Peruvian regime promised fair elections, clean government, respect for international agreements and opposition to communism and the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba.

Post Filled At Stevenson

The Stevenson Co. of Wellsville has announced the promotion of Ben Curry of Salsineville R. D. 1 to shop superintendent in charge of production of clay, brick, ceramic and chemical process equipment and repair parts.

Curry had been in charge of production control. He will assume his new duties Monday, Aug. 20, when operations will resume after the annual plant vacation.

E. J. Fitzgerald will be in charge of sales of heavy clay and ceramic equipment and customers' relations in order to increase sales.

The sale of vibrodynes, machines for deburring or polishing metal and ceramic parts, still is being handled by a separate sales office, Vibrodyn, Inc., of Dayton, E. C. Wickersham is sales manager.

Manufacture of the machines require 50 per cent of the total plant production, with very rapid increases being made in demands in the electronics and ceramic industry.

The quoted projects to the customers are far above average and pending a rising economy the future orders are looking very promising for the second half of 1962, according to D. Van Eerden, general manager of the Wellsville plant.

Negotiations between a New Castle industrialist and Max Isaacson, largest stockholder with 91 per cent and president of the Stevenson Co., for purchasing the stock, have been a d o c k e d . Plans for fabricating equipment for Army Ordnance have been abandoned for the present time, the firm said.

Road Work Set In Canton Region

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Department reports construction plans are under way for the relocation of 8.9 miles of U.S. 62 from a point five miles east of Canton, beginning at Ohio 44 and extending east to about two blocks west of Ohio 80 in Alliance.

The proposed relocation would consist of a four-lane divided highway with a 60-foot depressed median. The department said plans will allow ultimate development of a six-lane facility with a 36-foot median.

Existing U. S. 62 through this area is a two-lane rural highway with variable widths and narrow shoulders. The department said it is not suitable along much of its length to handle the increased traffic volume.

Plans for the future call for relocated U. S. 62 to be fully limited access highway between Canton and the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Any ideas on the easier stripping of insulation from electric wire?

A. A "pinch-type" nail-clipper makes an excellent tool for radio and TV hobbyists to use for removing insulation from small-gauge wire. First, however, remove the pressure-handle to avoid exerting too much force and cutting right through your wire.

Q. How can I give diamond jewelry a real professional cleaning?

A. Boil in soapsuds. Use mild white flakes (not too many) and a few drops of ammonia. When the solution has come to a boil, place the diamonds in a wire tea strainer and dip into the suds for a minute or two. Let cool, then rinse carefully. Next dip into a small bowl of alcohol, to cut the remaining film, and set it in jewelry to dry. The alcohol evaporates in an instant, leaving your diamonds sparkling like new love.

Q. How can I make the removal of the clams I catch easier than it now is?

A. It will be much easier for you to open your freshly-dug clams if you pour boiling water over them and let stand for a few minutes. And if you'll add a handful of salt to the water, it will remove the sand.

Q. What's the best way to clean a scrub iron?

A. Scrub the grids with a fine wire brush, then brush with non-salted oil. After this, heat the iron for about 10 minutes to recondition it. Soak up the excess oil with a piece of bread placed between the grids.

Q. How can I remove ink stains from a carpet?

A. By rubbing a paste of cornmeal and sweet milk on the spot, allowing to soak for a full day, then sweeping off.

Q. What is an easy way to remove pencil marks from wallpaper?

A. Your best and easiest method is with an art-gum eraser.

Junior Editors Quiz on YOU

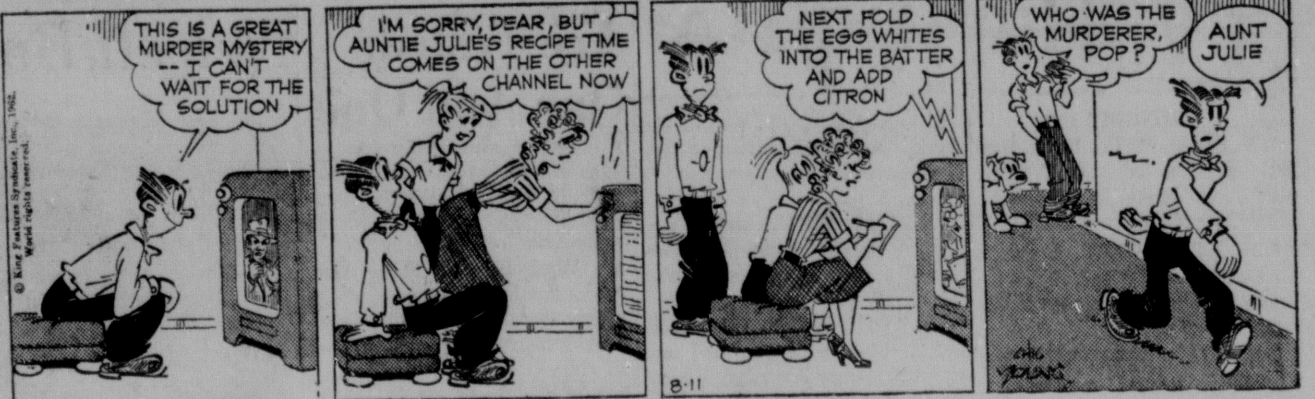

QUESTION: What is sleep?

ANSWER: Sleep is a way in which nature insures that our bodies have a chance to rest and replenish themselves. While we are awake, a special group of cells in the brain directs us in our conscious activity. But there is another part of the brain, lower down, which can turn on the activity of the upper cells or switch it off. This wise lower brain seems to know when the conscious part needs to be shut off, so it makes us drowsy and we tumble into bed. While sleeping we use very little energy. This allows the nerve cells to build up supplies of the chemicals they need to get us going when we wake up. We all need sleep; when young, children should have 10 hours rest, when older, 9 or more. Adolescents need 8½ to 9. Experts say it doesn't matter what position we take when we first go to sleep. Without knowing that we are doing so, we change our position several times during the night. This gives a chance for all the muscles to relax.

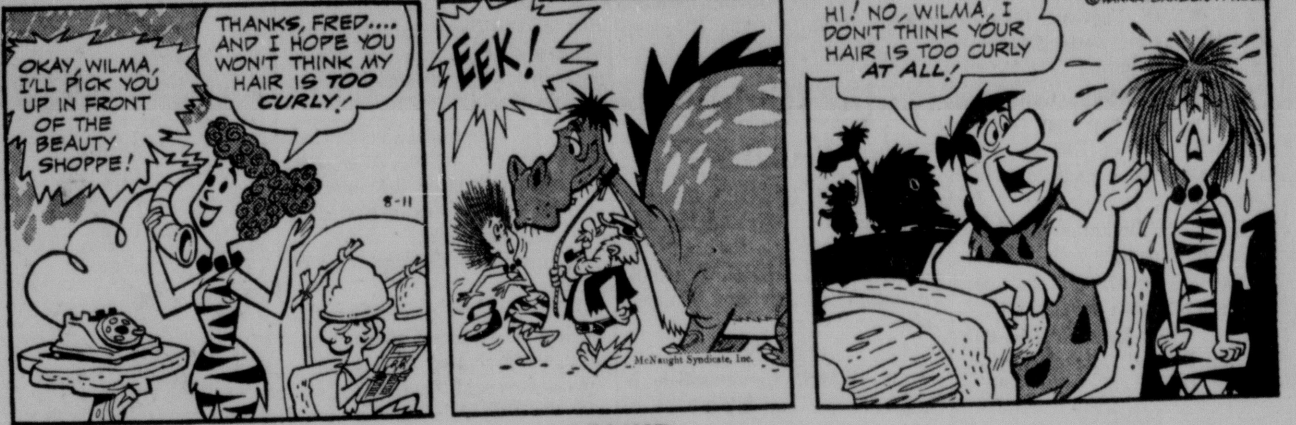

FOR YOU TO DO: Watch your behavior throughout a day. A person who hasn't had enough sleep is likely to be grumpy and cross. If you find yourself that way, get more sleep!

Lotion Closes Pool

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Too much sun lotion forced the closing of the swimming pool of the officers' club at Schilling Air Force base. Officials said swimmers failed to take showers to remove lotion before entering the pool. Oil accumulated on the sides of the pool and it was temporarily closed for cleaning.

Two Missiles Are Tested; One And One

By The Associated Press

The United States fired two ballistic missiles Friday—one a success, the other a failure—on opposite sides of the continent.

At Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., foot-long fragments of an advanced Atlas F missile, intentionally blown up when it strayed off course, scattered a wide section of the Santa Maria Valley, northwest of Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, a Polaris A2 rocket was launched successfully at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in a test of components for the advanced A3 submarine model.

The Air Force said strong winds blew particles of the Atlas over the mainland after the intercontinental rocket was exploded 35 miles off the coast.

No injuries or damage were reported.

Officials asked residents not to touch the pieces of debris, possibly contaminated by acid.

Witnesses said the 82½-foot missile—the only Atlas model stored in a silo before launch—vanished in a bright ball of orange flame, followed by a jarring roar heard for miles.

The goal of the giant missile was a target area near Wake Island 4,000 miles down the Pacific missile range.

The Polaris missile, said the Navy, streaked to its target 1,500 miles away after a ground launching.

The Polaris carried guidance, warhead and other components scheduled for use on the longer-range A3.

The A3 Polaris is designed for a 2,880-mile range. The A2, which is operational, can hit targets up to 1,725 miles away.

Probation Given Youth On Checks

A 19-year-old East Palestine area youth, who pleaded guilty to writing a fraudulent $25 check at Loblaw's Market in East Liverpool, and others, was placed on strict probation at a hearing Friday before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Daniel Mathews of R.D. 1 was placed on five-years probation by Judge Sharp who said:

"I think you are headstrong and have a violent temper but you have a wife and child and should help your mother and brothers and sisters."

"The court has no legal right to keep you or your wife apart, but believes that both of you are unstable. If you go back together you will be held liable for any injuries sustained by your wife and if brought to the court's attention you will be immediately sent to prison."

Mathews was ordered to continue to make restitution for all the checks he has written, be of good behavior and obey all laws, keep steady employment, support his wife and child and contribute to his mother for support of his brothers and sisters.

Cub Pack Committee Plans Picnic Aug. 30

Plans for a picnic Aug. 30 at Thompson Park were outlined at a planning committee meeting of Cub Scout Pack 34 of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church Thursday evening at the home of James Anderson of Fisher Ave. cubmaster.

The outing will feature a coverdish dinner.

The group also discussed a visit to the Reserve Armory in September.

The current paper drive being sponsored by the Pack will close the week of Aug. 20.

Newell Boy, Girl Win In Checkers

Two Newell youngsters were named champions in the annual checkers tournament of the East Liverpool Recreational Council in playoffs Friday afternoon at the high school here.

Bobby Walls, 12, left, won the boys' crown, and red-haired Bobby Boyles, 11, triumphed in her division. The champs hail from Clark Field playground in Newell.

Bobby won eight straight games, and Bobbi, 10 straight, in earning the engraved trophies.

The playoffs were directed by Harry Wolfe, playground supervisor, assisted by Ronald Jarvis.

Other boys participating were Jim Lightfoot, Don Brown,

Chuck Hutton, Don Sayres, Rich Lockhart, Bruce Christian, Mike Manley and Chuck Henderson.

Lions Hear Physician

Doctors' Medicare Fight Seen On Public's Behalf

Citing what he termed as the socialistic trend of the government, Dr. John A. Fraser told the Lions Club Friday afternoon, "The doctors are making the fight (against Medicare) for you as much as for themselves."

The veteran physician, a long-time member of the legislative committee of the Ohio State Medical Association, told the club at the Travelers Hotel the plan to control the nation's doctors "is a further step toward socialization."

He declared passage of the King-Anderson bill will lead the government to take steps for the control of other professions and businesses.

The Supreme Court has ruled that what ever the government finances it shall regulate, Dr. Fraser said.

In the late 19th Century Karl Marx wrote the men who take over the doctors soon can take over the rest of the country, the physician said, adding that physicians were the first group to be seized by Hitler.

The proposed King-Anderson bill will affect only those covered by Social Security, he explained, adding it will not affect the indigent. The Kerr-Mills bill now in effect splits the cost for the care of the indigent equally between the state and federal governments.

"But some states are dragging their feet apparently; they don't want the Kerr-Mills bill to work," he charged.

Each year some 100 bills pertaining to health and medical care are introduced in the Congress. "The government soon will have full control if it is not blocked," he said.

If the King-Anderson bill is approved, the Social Security tax eventually will be higher than the income tax, he said.

Social Security is not insurance, he warned, charging it is operating on margin and piling up a huge debt for future generations, Dr. Fraser said.

He declared most presidents and top-ranking members of their administration are "figureheads."

Mrs. Emmett Ferguson has returned home from the Cleveland Clinic.

Lake Mead, formed by the Hoover Dam, is the world's largest reservoir.

Subdivisions Share Taxes Of $1,175,000

LISBON — A total of $1,175,000 in advance payment of real estate taxes, collected for the last half of 1961, was distributed to the subdivision Thursday by Auditor Kenneth Bell.

A breakdown shows $1,007,370 went to school districts, $98,880 to cities and villages and $68,750 to townships.

It is hoped that this advance payment will keep a number of school districts from borrowing money to meet their payrolls and expenses, the auditor said.

The distribution included:

School districts — East Liverpool, $213,080; Salem, $216,680; Wellsville, $53,670; Lisbon, $60,000; Beaver Local, $65,600; Columbiana, $55,330; East Palestine, $66,990; Fairfield - Waterford, $49,980; Leetonia, $44,120; Alliance, $630; Minerva, $23,680; Southern Local, $62,100; United Local, $54,360, and West Branch, $41,800.

Lisbon School Board To Act On Resignation

LISBON — Supt. Russell Armistage said a number of matters are due for action by the Board of Education Tuesday night at 7:30.

His resignation will be up for acceptance, a delegate will be named to the Ohio School Boards' Association meeting Nov. 13-15 and refrigeration for McKinley School will be discussed. Hiring of four teachers and opening of coal and gasoline bids also are slated.

Collie Dog Gathers Neighbors' Papers

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Bobby Ellis was lavish with her praise when her year-old collie picked up the afternoon paper from the lawn and delivered it to her.

Next evening Mrs. Ellis returned home and found all of her neighbors' papers, along with her own, piled on the front porch.

Project At Reservoir About 30% Complete

Treating of the walls of half the low-service reservoir on Thompson Ave. is about 30 per cent completed, Donald T. Duke, water department superintendent, said today.

A crew is "shooting" sand and cement into the walls under pressure to provide a new surface.

The work is a follow-up to a similar treatment applied last year the high-service reservoir, he said.

Half the Thompson Ave. basin was drained and customers are being supplied from the other half. The section being treated in the same basin where a leak developed last winter and a temporary patch was made.

President Rests On Maine Island

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Maine (AP)—A rainy but warm welcome to Maine behind him, President Kennedy settled down today on a little island for a weekend of rest and relaxation.

He had a group of old and close friends, including a couple of wartime fellow PT boat commanders, as his guests at the John's Island home of former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney.

Among old friends on hand, either at the Tunney home or nearby, were Paul B. Fay, under-secretary of the navy, and James A. Reed, assistant secretary of the Treasury. Both were PT boat commanders as was the President in World War II.

Others here were Sen. Benjamin A. Smith, D-Mass., a Harvard classmate, and Rep. Torbert MacDonald, D-Mass., who shared a room with the President when he was a Harvard student.

Another old friend on hand is Charles Spaulding, New York investment banker and a frequent weekend companion of the President.

But it was not all play for the President this weekend.

He planned to get in some work on a speech he will deliver to the nation Monday night in which he will announce his decision on whether to recommend a tax cut this year.

Lotion Closes Pool

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Too much sultan lotion forced the closing of the swimming pool of the officers' club at Schilling Air Force base. Officials said swimmers failed to take showers to remove lotion before entering the pool. Oil accumulated on the sides of the pool and it was temporarily closed for cleaning.

Two Missiles Are Tested; One And One

By The Associated Press

The United States fired two ballistic missiles Friday—one a success, the other a failure—on opposite sides of the continent.

At Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., foot-long fragments of an advanced Atlas F missile, intentionally blown up when it strayed off course, scattered a wide section of the Santa Maria Valley, northeast of Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, a Polaris A2 rocket was launched successfully at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in a test of components for the advanced A3 submarine model.

The Air Force said strong winds blew particles of the Atlas over the mainland after the intercontinental rocket was exploded 35 miles off the coast.

No injuries or damage were reported.

Officials asked residents not to touch the pieces of debris, possibly contaminated by acid.

Witnesses said the 82½-foot missile—the only Atlas model stored in a silo before launch—vanished in a bright ball of orange flame, followed by a jarring roar heard for miles.

The goal of the giant missile was a target area near Wake Island 4,000 miles down the Pacific missile range.

The Polaris missile, said the Navy, streaked to its target 1,500 miles away after a ground launch.

The Polaris carried guidance, warhead and other components scheduled for use on the longer-range A3.

The A3 Polaris is designed for a 2,880-mile range. The A2, which is operational, can hit targets up to 1,725 miles away.

Newell Boy, Girl Win In Checkers

Two Newell youngsters were named champions in the annual checkers tournament of the East Liverpool Recreational Council in Liverpool Friday afternoon at the high school here.

Bobby Walls, 12, left, won the boys' crown, and red-haired Bobbi Boyles, 11, triumphed in her division. The champs hail from Clark Field playground in Newell.

Bobby won eight straight games, and Bobbi, 10 straight, in earning the engraved trophies.

The playoffs were directed by Harry Wolfe, playground supervisor, assisted by Ronald Jarvis.

Other boys participating were Jim Lightfoot, Don Brown, Chuck Hutton, Don Sayres, Rick Lockhart, Bruce Christian, Mike Manley and Chuck Henderson.

The remainder of the field in the girls' division included Kathryn Bednarczyk, Vicki Murray, Karole Wright, JoAnne Stepanovich, Terry Solomon, Susan Barnhart, Vicki Dawson, Sandra McNear, Patty Kaminski and Minnie Frye.

Probation Given Youth On Checks

A 19-year-old East Palestine area youth, who pleaded guilty to writing a fraudulent $25 check at Loblaw's Market in East Liverpool, and others, was placed on strict probation at a hearing Friday before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Daniel Mathews of R.D. 1 was placed on five-years probation by Judge Sharp who said:

"I think you are headstrong and have a violent temper but you have a wife and child and should help your mother and brothers and sisters."

"The court has no legal right to keep you or your wife apart, but believes that both of you are unstable. If you go back together you will be held liable for any injuries sustained by your wife and if brought to the court's attention you will be immediately sent to prison."

Mathews was ordered to continue to make restitution for all the checks he has written, be of good behavior and obey all laws, keep steady employment, support his wife and child and contribute to his mother and support of his brothers and sisters.

Lions Hear Physician

Doctors' Medicare Fight Seen On Public's Behalf

Citing what he termed as the socialistic trend of the government, Dr. John A. Fraser told the Lions Club Friday afternoon, "The doctors are making the fight against Medicare for you as much as for themselves."

The veteran physician, a long-time member of the legislative committee of the Ohio State Medical Association, told the club at the Travelers Hotel the plan to control the nation's doctors "is a further step toward socialization."

He declared passage of the King-Anderson bill will lead the government to take steps for the control of other professions and businesses.

The Supreme Court has ruled that what ever the government finances it shall regulate, Dr. Fraser said.

In the late 19th Century Karl Marx wrote the men who take over the doctors soon can take over the rest of the country, the physician said, adding that physicians were the first group to be seized by Hitler.

The proposed King-Anderson bill will affect only those covered by Social Security, he explained, adding it will not affect the indigent. The Kerr-Mills bill now in effect splits the cost for the care of the indigent equally between the state and federal governments.

"But some states are dragging their feet apparently; they don't want the Kerr-Mills bill to work," he charged.

Each year some 100 bills pertaining to health and medical care are introduced in the Congress. "The government soon will have full control if it is not blocked," he said.

If the King-Anderson bill is approved, the Social Security tax eventually will be higher than the income tax, he said.

Social Security is not insurance, he warned, charging it is operating on margin and piling up a huge debt for future generations, Dr. Fraser said.

He declared most presidents and top-ranking members of their administration are "figureheads."

Project At Reservoir

About 30% Complete

Treating of the walls of half the low-service reservoir on Thompson Ave. is about 30 per cent completed, Donald T. Duke, water department superintendent, said today.

A crew is "shooting" sand and cement into the walls under pressure to provide a new surface.

The work is a follow-up to a similar treatment applied last year the high-service reservoir, he said.

Half the Thompson Ave. basin was drained and customers are being supplied from the other half. The section being treated in the same basin where a leak developed last winter and a temporary patch was made.

Subdivisions Share Taxes Of $1,175,000

LISBON — A total of $1,175,000 in advance payment of real estate taxes, collected for the last half of 1961, was distributed to the subdivision Thursday by Auditor Kenneth Bell.
